MAJOR WESTERN ELECTRIC STRIKE ENDS

New Jersey State Prison Revolt Ends

69 Felons Give Up; Others Still Holding Out at Prison Farm

(Picture on Page 7)

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Sixty-nine weak but surly convicts filed out of the print shop at the Trenton State Prison Friday, ending a 77-hour revolt but a sympathy mutiny of 231 inmates continued at Rahway prison farm 40 miles away.

The Trenton convicts had gained one objective of their rebellion—an impartial investigation of the prison.

F. Lovell Bixby, deputy commissioner of institutions and agencies, said the department would request the Osborne Association, a foundation interested in prison problems, to make a survey at the prison.

In a statement issued through Warden William H. Carty, Bixby said the association would be requested to "advise officials as to the needs and requiremnts of the ancient institution."

Buildings in the state prison used regularly were built in 1835.

As the Trenton mutineers surrendered three prison employes they held hostage were whisked away in the warden's automobile to their homes. They were reported in good condition.

The convicts were taken to the prison hospital, searched for weapons, given baths and locked in their cells

Feels End Near

At Rahway, R. William Lagay, superintendent of the prison farm, said he believed the mutineers there "will be ready to negotiate surrender before long."

The Rahway disorders started Thursday night in a dormitory wing where the convicts holed themselves up with the nine guards as hostages.

"I think we can settle this matter just as we settled it in Trenton," Lagay said.

The Trenton convicts during their rebellion shouted for removal of Carty as prison warden and demanded an investigation of the prison by an impartial body.

Carty called in representatives of the Osborne Association to hear the convicts' side of the story and then successfully waited for the rebelling gang to get hungry enough to give up.

In both revolts the mutineers smashed windows and destroyed furniture.

Decline Use of Force

The Rahway group hung bed sheets from the windows on which were lettered their demands for an investigation and one bore the legend "Stop beating cons."

At both prisons authorities declined to use force to rout the rebelling inmates, both to avoid bloodshed and because they held prison employes hostage.

The Rahway mutiny was the fifth prison disorder in New Jersey in three weeks.

Bixby said "the punishment to be inflicted as a result of the disturbance will be determined later after a full investigation."

Caught in Time, He Can Be Conquered

Killer Tracked Down In Free Cancer Clinic

This article explains one of the important services of the Marion Unit of the American Cancer Society which this month is conducting its annual campaign for funds. A highlight of its drive toward a goal of $9,000 will be a house-to-house canvass Thursday night, April 24. Two days later service clubs will cooperate in a Cancer Tag Day sale in the downtown area.

A top-notch detective agency in Marion County specializes in tracking down disease, not criminals.

The disease is cancer, which will strike one of five persons living today, and will kill more children under 14 than any other disease in the U. S.

The detective agency is the free, weekly Cancer Detection Clinic sponsored by the Marion County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Each Thursday morning the clinic gives six free examinations in the clinic rooms in the basement of the Marion hospital.—free examinations which in the past sven years have turned up scores of actual cases of active cancer in people who were usually unaware they had the disease.

Financed by Contributions

These free clinics, which have been conducted in Marion continuously since February 15, 1945, are financed by contributions to the annual fund drive conducted by the local unit of the American Cancer Society. This month is Cancer Crusade Month, during which contributions are being received.

More than 1,100 men, women and children have been examined at the Cancer Clinic since its establishment in 1945. Case histories of each of these persons are kept on file at the clinic for reference by the person examined, or by that person's personal physician.

In spite of limited facilities, the Cancer Clinic has managed to provide a free service to Marion

Taft Says Vote Tuesday Means Little

Eisenhower Backers Claim Pennsylvania Primary Important

By The Associated Press

Taft and Eisenhower supporters were looking through opposite ends of the political telescope today at the Republican presidential primary in Pennsylvania next Tuesday.

Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio says the outcome will have no immediate or definite effect on his or anybody's bid for the GOP presidential nomination. Backers of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower insist the preferential balloting is of prime importance

In the Democratic preferential vote even a microscope would be of little use. Reason: No candidates.

Pennsylvania has 70 votes at each party's nominating convention. Both parties already have picked 10-vote at-large delegations apiece. District races Tuesday fill the remaining 60 posts on each side

Results of the popularity poll—where write-ins may be counted—are not binding on these delegates. Leaders of both parties say they see no reason to commit Pennsylvania's delegates to any hopeful until the chips are down at nominating conventions next July in Chicago.

The GOP preferential ballot lists only Eisenhower and former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota. Taft, in refusing to challenge them, asked his backers not to cast any write-ins for him. Taft, however, has talked in Pittsburgh for a slate of delegate-candidates there favoring his candidacy.

Politics elsewhere:

In Washington, two southern senators, Allen Ellender of Louisiana and James Eastland of Mississippi, said of a third southern senator, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee: He can not be nominated and he can not be elected. Ellender and Eastland favor a fourth southern senator, Richard Russell of Georgia, for the Democratic nomination as president.

Lift Controls On Rubber

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today announced the removal of almost all controls on the use of natural and synthetic rubber, effective April 21.

But the door was left open for a quick clampdown should the nation's rubber stockpile fall dangerously low or prices skyrocket again

Provision also was made to guarantee that government-built synthetic rubber plants are kept operating at a peak so they can shift rapidly into emergency production if necessary.

ARSENAL STRIKE ENDS

Dike Leak Near City Sealed Off

Downstream Areas Worse Off; 200 Mi. Area Under Water

OMAHA (AP)—The runaway Missouri threw a new flood scare into Omaha Friday night but appeared under control again here this forenoon Along some 200 miles of its downstream reaches, however, the muddy torrent smashed more levees, engulfed more farms and spread new destruction.

This biggest-in-history flood for the Missouri Valley ran almost uncontrolled into northeastern Kansas. It was driving families from their homes in growing numbers in Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas Damage and flood-fighting costs were mounting into uncounted millions.

The new threat to Omaha developed suddenly when pressure from the raging river tide blew out a sewer line leading into the lowland industrial area. It came after the flood crest had passed through the narrow Omaha-Council Bluffs, Ia., channel.

The greatest danger seemingly had passed when the river's 30.24-foot crest (11.24 feet above flood level) surged downstream Friday. There was a wave of elation in the twin cities that this menace had failed to smash through the narrow channel levees.

But then the river's still-tremendous pressure burst through a 7-by-9 foot sewer line four blocks behind the levee. Water ripped up street pavement for 120 feet. It spurted in geysers, and gushed through the streets across a wide area where there are warehouses, railroad switch yards, lumber yards, and factories. The break was at 11th and Grace streets.

City officials said they weren't too certain what happened except that the tremendous back pressure exerted on the pressurized line blew it open. The system was designed to be equal to the high river water situation and similar systems in the city were giving no trouble.

"Situation In Hand"

By mid-morning today, the situation was described as "well in hand." The bulk of the backflow had been cut off at its mouth in the river and pumps were lifting excess water back into the river.

A complete breakthrough at the point would have let water push into the East Omaha area—a residential area abandoned last week by the several thousand persons living in it, lest flood waters come. On the south or downtown side of the area, a "tie-back" levee confined the water's spread.

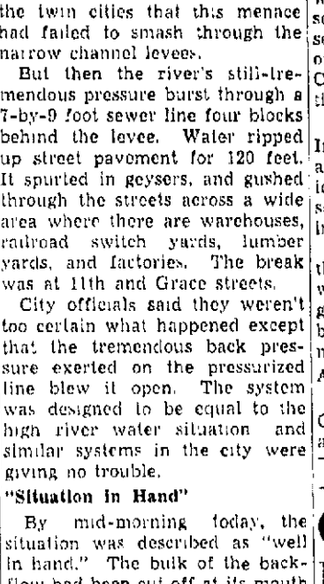
EUB Pastor Resigns Post

Rev. Hochstettler Entering New Work



REV. D. H. HOCHSTETTLER

The Rev. D. H. Hochstettler, pastor of First EUB Church since 1947, has submitted his resignation as pastor here, effective June 1, and will go into full time work as a general director of religious education in his denomination. The resignation was given officially at a quarterly conference of the church Monday night at which Dr. V. H. Allman, conference superintendent, presided.

As director of religious education for the Ohio Sandusky Conference, the Rev. Mr. Hochstettler will have headquarters at Findlay. He and his family will move there the last of May.

His duties will include overseeing generally the work of religious education among adults, young people, and children in Sunday Schools, Vacation Bible Schools, in youth camping programs, and similar student work. He will act as a contact man in the area of church college relations within the conference field. The educational directorship is a newly created position necessitated by the increase of activity along education lines in the conference. This work, previously a part of the duties of the conference superintendent, has expanded to such an extent that full time attention to its needs is required.

A large amount of traveling will be involved and part of the director's time will be spent in rep-

Govt. Serves Ultimatum On Steel Industry

Settle With Union Or Gov't Will Grant Pay Boost, Sawyer Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The steel labor fight grew hotter today with the Truman administration threatening to raise worker wages in the seized industry early next week. The move also stirred a new uproar in Congress.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer late Friday served an ultimatum on the industry's private owners—saying that unless they reach an agreement with CIO president Philip Murray by Monday or Tuesday, the government will step in and give steelworkers a pay boost.

There seemed little chance the union and companies could get together on a deal. In fact, Murray and President Benjamin Fairless of U.S. Steel Company left the capital to spend the week end in Pittsburgh.

Sawyer's announcement that he was practically ready to impose new wage terms and working conditions on the seized industry spurred a drive by wrathful Senate Republicans to forbid use of any federal funds for sala-

Toledo Woman Named

Family Service Society Executive Appointed

MRS. DORIS M. MAXWELL

Employment of an executive secretary for Marion's newest Red Feather agency, the Marion County Family Service Society, was announced today by Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, president of the society's board of trustees.

The director is Mrs. Doris M Maxwell, formerly of Toledo. An agency office has been established at 148 S Main St Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m

The Society, which is an agency of the Marion Community Chest, was established after more than a year of planning and consideration by the chest board, and marks a step forward in that organization's service to the community

Case Work Service

The Society will serve as a case work service agency and its aim is to provide expert counseling on special problems requiring child guidance, marital counseling, home budget problems and other advice which trained social workers are prepared to give.

Mrs. Maxwell comes to Marion with a broad field of experience in her work as executive secretary in this particular field. From newspaper work she went into secretarial work with the U.S. Government and the U.S. Army Later she served as a caseworker with the Family Service Society in Omaha, Neb., as executive secretary with the Family Service Society at Lima, and later was executive secretary with the Association for Family Service in Pittsfield, Mass. She worked with the Children's Service Society in Cleveland, and also with the Welfare Bureau in Erie, Pa Her work before coming to Marion was with the Child and Family Service in Springfield, Mass., where she was general case supervisor.

Studied At Toledo, Cleveland

She studied at Toledo University, New York School of Social Work and Western Reserve University at Cleveland, and took her field work at the Institute of Family Service and the Council of Social Agencies in Cleveland. She is a member of the American Association of Social Workers.

Judge Edward J. Ruzzo is president of the trustees of the new agency. Serving with him are Dr. Frederick W. Rea, vice president, Mrs. Mildred Schuetz, secretary, and Francis E. Huber, treasurer. Other members of the board of trustees are Mrs. H. V. Alexander, Ray Beverly, Mrs. Ashley Booth, Mrs. Robert Fay, Norman Fogt, Miss Vivian Hall, Edwin J. Truck Driver Found Dead In Wyandot Co.

Body Sent To Columbus to Fix Cause of Death

A Ft. Wayne, Ind., truck driver died in the cab of his truck eight miles east of Upper Sandusky at a roadside park and the cause of his death is as yet undetermined.

Henry Yale Barnes, 29, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., died apparently early Thursday morning in a roadside park along the highway.

His body was found at 4 p.m. Friday by a safety patrol man for the Chicago Express Co for which Barnes worked.

Carried Death Message

By an odd coincidence, the safety patrol man was looking for Barnes to tell him of the death of his brother-in-law in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Barnes' body has been taken to University Hospital in Columbus for an autopsy. State highway patrolmen from the Marion station who investigated said they could not determine whether Barnes died of natural causes or not.

The body was found stretched out on the seat of the truck. The cargo of steel pipe was still intact, the truck's ignition had been turned off, and the truck was parked

Patrolmen reported the park is used by truckers as a stopover point and a large number of them sleep there.

Last Seen Alive Wednesday

Barnes had started with his load from Ft. Wayne, Ind., and had left a company check station at Upper Sandusky at midnight Wednesday.

He was bound for New Jersey and should have been there when his body was found. A report on the findings of the autopsy is not expected for several days, patrolmen said.

Barnes is married. His wife lives in Ft. Wayne.

Threatens Special Sessions of Congress

Truman Stirs Up Fight Over Funds For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman's threat to crack the knuckles of Congress with a chain of daily special sessions, if it balks at voting the money he thinks is needed for defense, drew defiant retorts today from several legislators.

"He seems to have gone completely off his head," Sen. Taft of Ohio, a candidate for Republican presidential nomination, said in Springfield, Mass., when he learned of Truman's statement Friday in a speech dedicating a new Amvets national headquarters.

"He is claiming power like Charles I of England," Taft told a Springfield rally. "The President seems to think he must get all the money he asks. Well, Congress x x x is the appropriating power and x x x always has been."

"That one he can't make stick," said Sen Capehart (R-Ind), expressing the mood of many congressmen of both parties who believe the 52½ billion dollars Truman has asked for the defense program and foreign aid is too much.

The House already has cut the total six billions, and the Senate hopes to slash it substantially. Senate committee hearings on the appropriation are to begin next week.

Truman departed from his prepared text to charge that "dangerous and destructive" cuts in the program, which he said were made for the sake of election year headline hunting, would risk the lives of American soldiers.

He said he would not stand for it

He said he would "call a special

Installers OK Compromise Pay Increase

10,000 Set To Go Back To Work; May Ease Other Walkouts

NEW YORK (AP)—A compromise wage increase early today ended the key strike of 10,000 CIO installers against the Western Electric Co., and fostered hopes for a quick settlement in two remaining telephone walkouts

The agreement between the installers, members of the CIO Communications Workers of America, and Western Electric was regarded as the most important thus far in 12 days of strikes that have threatened to disrupt telephone service in 48 states and Washington, D C

It was expected to set a pattern for the settlement at a meeting later today between Western Electric and 6,000 still-striking CWA salesmen, distributors and warehousemen

And it also may provide the solution to a strike by a union-estimated 8,500 CWA members against the Bell System affiliate for northern California and Nevada.

CWA president Joseph A. Beirne, in a statement made in Washington and released here, said after the installers' agreement

"We hope to wind up the other Western Electric negotiations in a hurry and reach an agreement in northern California. That will end the strike."

Both the remaining disputes involve wage increase battles similar to the installers'.

The three telephone strikes started simultaneously 12 days ago with other CWA walkouts against Bell subsidiaries in Ohio, Michigan and New Jersey. But the latter three strikes were settled in separate mediation negotiations.

Separate Contract

Although the CWA was involved in all the disputes, it held two separate contracts with Western Electric and separate contracts with each of the Bell subsidiaries. Western Electric is the manufacturing affiliate of the Bell Telephone System

Meanwhile, a walkout of 31,000 AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union members against the Western Union Telegraph Co. entered its 17th day. No immediate settlement was in sight in this wage fight.

Both CWA and Western Electric officials appeared pleased at the compromise one-year contract reached for the installers. Terms of the contract were announced by a federal mediation spokesman.

The new pact provides a basic average wage increase of 14.1 cents an hour and fringe benefits of 17 cents, making a 31.1-cent-an-hour package Present wages averaged $1.64 to $1.77.

Mediators had been conducting marathon sessions all week. Prior to the start of the last through-the-night meeting Friday, the union had been asking for 23 cents an hour more plus unspecified fringe benefits. The company had made offers ranging from 12 to 17 cents an hour.

The new contract, which becomes effective Monday and does not provide retroactivity, is subject to ratification by the union membership. Certain portions of the wage and fringe increases must be approved by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Comments From Officials

C. C Randolph, personnel director of Western Electric, said his firm was "gratified that a solution fair both to the company and the union has been found."

A. T Jones, CWA vice president and top negotiator, said the pay increase was the "largest" yet negotiated with Western Electric. He said it was "a major accomplishment."

Jones said the installers would start removing their picket lines today. They had threatened service in all 48 states where Western Electric has plants. The exceptions were Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Montana.

But a spokesman for the distributors said they would maintain picket lines pending a settlement, in the 28 cities where Western Electric has distributing houses.

When the entire series of phone disputes started, there were some 67,000 strikers. The CWA claimed

News of The Churches

Congregations Prepare For Increased Activity

Post-Easter plans, set against the background of the inspiration of Christ's resurrection, will take the attention of churches in coming weeks, and, no exception to the rule, Marion congregations are preparing for increased activity in the days ahead.

New members are to be introduced to church programs and "new shoulders to the wheel" give anticipation of added accomplishments. Times of the early church as the disciples moved out to take Christ's teachings abroad will be recalled.

Attention will be centered Sunday on their experiences as they came to the acute realization of Christ's mastery of death and of the truth of His words, "Lo, I am with you alway." A trend in the churches again today is toward more active lay member leadership.

"Enlistment Sunday" will be observed in Trinity Baptist Church Sunday morning with a presentation of the financial needs and the program of the church by a laymen's committee headed by L. J. Ashworth. The congregation has been divided into four city districts, with co-chairmen in charge of each district. The co-chairmen for the northeast district are Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Smith; for the southwest district Frank Kette and F. E. Arthur; and for the southeast district Eric Williams and Kenneth Johnston. An opportunity will be given at the morning service for the members of the church to pledge their support to the program and the canvassers will return to the church at 2:30 p.m. to begin the follow-up canvassing in the homes.

A feature of the evening worship service will be a religious film, "The First Easter".

School Choir To Sing

Anthems by the Harding High School A Cappella choir will be a part of the morning worship service Sunday at Epworth Methodist Church. Under the direction of L. G. Jones, the choir will sing "Behold and See," Lundquist, and "Voices of God," Rhea. Scripture will be read by David Smith. Richard Lawrence will present Wesley Foundation work. The pastor, Dr. V. E. Busler, will give the sermon.

For Junior Church the theme will be "Springtime Discoveries." At Intermediate Fellowship meeting at 4 p.m. the topic will be "Boy-Girl Relationships," led by Nancy Boger and Linda Caldwell. A potluck supper for the High School Fellowship cabinet and members will be at 6:15. Groups meeting next week include Circle 5 Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. W. J. Wise, hostess, Susanna Wesley Service Guild that night at the church, and on Thursday afternoon, Circle 8, Mrs. G. B. Heffelfinger entertaining, Circle 1, Mrs. Robert Williams, hostess, and Circle 6, Mrs. C. N. Briggs. Lucy Webb Hayes Service Guild will meet Thursday night.

Training School Service

For a chapel service at the Marion Training School Sunday at 8 a.m., members from Maranatha Bible Church will be in charge. The pastor, the Rev. Earl L. Holliday, will speak on "How To Have Faith," and he will be assisted in conducting the service by Gloyd Dearth, Donald Weaver, Vern Griffith and William Graff. A Bible class is conducted each Monday night by the pastor at the institution. The Gospel of John is being studied.

Members of the church will conduct a service at the Marion County Jail at 2:30 p.m. At the evening service at 7:30 at the church, the pastor will give the last in a series of messages on "Look and Live," dealing with the return of Christ to this earth. For the youth meeting at 6:30, the theme will be "Deliverance from the Presence of Sin." During the worship service last Sunday morning, certificates showing successful completion of a teacher training class conducted by the church were presented William Harold Radel, Dolly Wilson and Barbara Condron.

To Dedicate Youths

Two Marion youths, members of Oakland EUB Church, will be dedicated as ministerial students at morning service of the church Sunday. They are Raymond Klingel, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.L. Klingel of 626 Uncapher Ave. and Elwin Falor, son of the Oakland Church pastor, the Rev. H. V. Falor, and Mrs. Falor whose parsonage home is at 905 Bellefontaine Ave.

Dr. V. H. Allman, conference superintendent of the denomination, will conduct the dedication. In addition, he will dedicate to the use of the church a new illuminated cross for the sanctuary, and a baptismal font purchased recently by the Christian Homebuilders Class.

The two young men who will study for the ministry plan to enroll in college courses leading to their profession at future dates. Raymond Klingel, graduated from Harding High School last year, has chosen as his goal the field of agricultural missions. He did farm work after graduation and is engaged at present in industrial employment. Elwin Falor is a junior at Harding High School.

During Sunday School hour at the church Sunday, Dr. J. W. Montgomery of New York will present the cause of the recently established interdenominational newspaper, The Protestant World. At evening worship, the pastor will present the first in a series of sermons on the Ten Commandments. The Men's Chorus will sing. A Sunday School board meeting will follow the service. Monday night, the steward board will meet.

Church Plans Play

Rehearsals are being held by Calvary EUB Youth Fellowship members for presentation of a drama version of "Little Women" by Louisa Mae Alcott, two nights next week. The three-act play is under direction of Robert Faulkner. Thursday and Friday night productions have been arranged, and reservations may be made for either time by calling the church office at 2-1039. Staging of the story will be done in the basement auditorium of the church.

The Board of Christian Education will meet Tuesday night. For a special mid-week service Wednesday night, a guest speaker will be present. Dr. J. W. Montgomery of New York will talk on the work of a recently established interdenominational newspaper, The Protestant World, and he will show a film, "Talents."

* * *

Layman's Sunday

Laymen's Sunday will be observed at Emmanuel Baptist services Sunday morning and evening. At the morning worship hour the pastor will give a message dealing with "How God Uses Laymen in Various Phases of His Work" based on experiences of both Old and New Testament characters.

In charge in the evening will be nine laymen, with a message by W. A. Hough. Others taking part will include Arvil Chafin, Walter Osmun, Carl Ford, James Sanderson, Charles Schaber, William Pride, Harley Kelley and Walter Young.

Church Briefs

Columbus musicians will be in Marion Sunday to present an afternoon program at Mt. Zion Baptist Church, 200 Senate St. The group will be heard at 3 o'clock. Dinner will be served following. The public is invited to attend, it was announced.

Because of the program of music by the Marion County Methodist Men's Chorus at the LaRue Methodist Church Sunday night, Wesley Methodist Church in Marion will not hold its own evening service. Youth Fellowships will meet at usual. The Intermediate MYF leader will be Molly Wolf. Plans are being made for a party for the group April 27. Organizations of the church meeting next week include Circle 5 Monday night with Mrs. Harry Buckingham as hostess. Circle 4 will meet the same night, Vivian Brown entertaining. The Wesleyan Service Guild made plans recently for a supper at the church Tuesday night. Boy Scouts will meet Wednesday night instead of Tuesday. At a special service Thursday night, Dr. J. W. Montgomery of New York will present the cause of the recently established religious newspaper, The Protestant World.

The First Evangelical and Reformed CIB Class will meet at the church Sunday night.

Regular evening service of First EUB Church will be cancelled Sunday night to enable members to join the Calvary Church congregation for the program by the Otterbein College choir. Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 at First Church with Sandra Huber as leader. The theme will be "Faith Is Power." Tuesday night, the Builders Class will meet. A business and social meeting of the Youth Fellowship will be held Thursday night.

During Sunday School hour at First Church of the Brethren Sunday, a guest speaker, Dr. J. W. Montgomery of New York will present the cause of the recently established religious newspaper, The Protestant World. The Women's Work organization will meet Tuesday night with Mrs. Marian Hornbeck as hostess.

As part of a special service of worship at Prospect Street Methodist Church Sunday night, a film, "Talents," will be shown. This service at 7:30 will be open to the public, the pastor stated. For Senior Youth Fellowship meeting at 6:30, the topic will be "After Easter, Then What."

When the Youth Fellowship groups of Fite Memorial Baptist Church meet Sunday at 6:30 p.m. the topic will be "Batter Up." For midweek service Wednesday night, the subject will be "The Trial of Elijah." The Three G Class will meet Thursday night.

An organization of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church meeting next week is the Ladies' Aid Society Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Estella Maynard as hostess.

Cottage prayer meeting of the Foursquare Gospel Church will be at the Freeman home at 893 Sugar St. Wednesday night.

Services of the Church of Christ at Main and Farming Sts. Sunday will be in charge of Jack Hawkins of Woodsfield, evangelist. He will preach both morning and evening. There will be a special service of "Gospel singing" at 2:35 p.m.

A special service will be conducted at First Pilgrim Holiness Church Sunday night with candlelight communion observance. Following a message by the pastor on "Ye Are Bought With a Price," the sacrament will be administered as the candidates sit at a table, it was stated.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45).

Almost Persuaded

A Gospel Singer Waits for a Train

One Sunday in the early 1870's a lone man stepped from a train in a small Eastern town. His name was Philip Bliss. After twenty years of impoverishment and heart-breaking work, he had risen to the front ranks of America's gospel singers and hymn composers.

Deeply religious, Bliss never missed an opportunity to attend church. He also had very practical reasons for his interest in sermons. It was from the pulpit that he drew ideas for most of his hymns. Dwight L. Moody had told the story of a shipwreck and Bliss had written "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning." He had heard Evangelist D. W. Whittle tell of a battle during the Civil War and he came up with his hymn, "Hold the Fort."

Waiting for his connecting train to Chicago, the composer slipped into a church. The preacher was reading from the Acts of the Apostles . . . ". . . Then Agrippa said to Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." During his sermon the Rev. Brundage stated, . . . "to be almost saved is to be entirely lost." and Philip Bliss had the theme for one of his greatest hymns.

A music teacher with an income of thirteen dollars a month at 26, Philip Bliss was earning a fortune from his hymn books at 36—and giving the fortune to charity. On December 29, 1876, he and his wife were riding a Chicago-bound express through Ohio. Near the town of Ashtabula the train crashed through a trestle and burned. The composer and his wife perished with a hundred other passengers. He would have been 38.

"Almost persuaded," now to believe;
"Almost persuaded." Christ to receive,
Seems now some soul to say,
"Go, Spirit, go Thy way,
Some more convenient day,
On Thee I'll call."

"Almost persuaded," come, come today;
"Almost persuaded," turn not away;
Jesus invites you here,
Angels are ling'ring near,
Prayers rise from hearts so dear,
O . . . wand'rer, come.

"Almost persuaded," harvest is past!
"Almost persuaded, doom comes at last!
"Almost" cannot avail;
"Almost" is but to fail!
Sad, sad, that bitter wail,
"Almost," but lost.

Church To Lay Cornerstone Of New Building

Emanuel Lutheran Ceremony To Follow Service Sunday

Emanuel Lutheran Church will lay the cornerstone for its new $225,000 educational unit Sunday morning. The ceremony will follow the conclusion of the regular morning service.

The educational building is the third building project of the congregation in its present location. The cornerstone for the church nucleus was laid on May 6, 1917, and the building was dedicated on Sept. 8, 1918. The parsonage, located south of the church, was completed in 1924. Plans for the new educational addition call for its completion some time in October.

The new building will provide individual class rooms for the entire Sunday school, additional seating capacity for the church service and ample facilities for meetings of the various organizations of the church.

The Intermediate and Senior Choirs will sing anthems at the cornerstone laying service and the Rev. M. E. Hollenson will deliver the sermon.

Ground was broken at ceremonies Aug. 12, last year. The brick structure, matching the main part of the church, is to be constructed in the area to the rear of the church. Charles Oborn is the architect, and the Baldauf Construction Co. is the builder.

Salvation Army Radio Program Set Sunday

The "Know Your Salvation Army" program will be broadcast at 3:30 p.m. Sunday over WMRN, with Captain Robert Barton of the Bucyrus Corps, and Senior Captain Mary Nisiewicz of Marion taking part. The theme will be "Evangeline Residences, a Home Away from Home for Working Girls." The Salvation Army is a participating agency of the Marion County Community Chest.

Confident Living

How You Can Keep Your Good Humor

By Norman Vincent Peale

ONE OF THE most frequent problems about which I am consulted is, natural enough, marital difficulties. And, on thinking about the various forms these problems of married life take, I am more and more convinced that the preservation of good humor in marriage is one of the most important things a husband and wife can do to avoid discord.

A man came to see me once to complain that his wife was becoming very difficult. "When I first met her," he told me, "she was a nice quiet girl, but I remember even back then thinking that there were times when she was a bit sharp. However, she never really showed her claws until after we were married. Now I don't understand her at all. But you, Dr. Peale, you know all about women, don't you?"

Dr. Peale

"Thanks," I replied, "for the compliment, but I've never met any man who did. I always tell my own wife that's because they're so far above us we just can't figure them out."

"But you certainly can tell me," he insisted, "why she is so snappy."

* * *

WELL, WE DISCUSSED his problem. She seemed to be healthy; so that didn't enter into the picture. Then I made a suggestion. "Try the objective method of solving your problem," I said. "Don't think of her emotionally, as a person annoying you, but view her scientifically and objectively. Take a dispassionate view."

And so the next time the wife began one of her tirades, the husband took a pad of paper and sat down in the living room. He wrote quietly as she talked. As her voice rose, he continued to study her and write down his impressions.

Finally, feminine curiosity would not be denied. "What are you writing?" she snapped. Then she walked over and tore the pad from his hands.

This is what it said: "Under ordinary circumstances her voice is soft and sweet; now it is harsh. Normally her eyes are the softest and kindest in the world, now they have a metallic glint." She thought for a few minutes, then took the pencil from her husband, wrote on the pad and passed it to him.

"Stupid sometimes, but the nicest man that ever lived," were her words.

* * *

THIS EXCHANGE between them was the beginning of a new, objective and good-humored approach to their mutual problems. It worked, and today they have an understanding far more satisfactory than their previous relationship.

When you lose your good humor, you lose your objectivity. There is always a reason people act as they do. Try to understand. Be objective and, in being objective, be slow. Your instinctive emotional reaction is always quick. Slow it down. Emotions by nature are hot. Keep them cool, ice cool.

Seneca, one of the wisest of the ancients, said, "The greatest cure for anger is delay." And there's a Scripture text which reads: "Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him. Fret not thyself." Quiet, deliberate response—that's how you keep your good humor.

It isn't easy to preserve good humor under all circumstances. But a certain university, so I'm told, thinks that it is so important that they have installed a course on the subject. I don't know what rules they teach but I have three suggestions of my own.

First, be intellectually quick and keen. Get the whole picture before you act. Second, be spiritually discerning. Understand the significance of the situation. And third, be emotionally objective and slow. Take a dispassionate attitude.

Try these suggestions next time you're annoyed or irritated. I'm sure you'll keep your good humor.

LONG WAY AROUND

OWOSSO, Mich. (UP)—James Hert, 40, fainted while operating a crane on a $700,000 addition to Memorial Hospital. A fellow worker, forgetting the hospital was only 100 ft. away, telephoned into town for an ambulance. By the time it arrived, Hert had been carried in the hospital, given an examination and was discharged.

College Choir Sings Sunday

Otterbein Group On Calvary Program

To hear a concert by the 40-voice a cappella choir of Otterbein College, Westerville, Sunday night, Calvary EUB congregation here will be joined by members of First EUB Church. The service at Calvary Church will be at 7:30.

Two Marion students appear with the choir, Miss Jane Lockwood and John Goff, and several other singers are from nearby communities. Prof. Robert Hohn head of the voice and choral departments of the college, is the director. Besides the many Ohioans in the choir, there are representatives of at least five other states. The choir completed its annual tri-state spring tour March 8, having given 12 concerts to a total of approximately 5,000 listeners.

On the program will be representatives numbers from all periods of choral literature, featuring compositions by Brahms, Schubert, Poulenc, Kubic, Clokey and Gibbons, plus choral arrangements of well-known folk melodies. Operatic arias will be presented by soloists.

Will Explain Church Paper

New York Man To Talk At Marion Churches

Dr. J. W. Montgomery of New York, representing a new venture in religious journalism, The Protestant World newspaper, will give to Marion churches his report on developments of the undertaking next week. He will be here Sunday at Sunday school services of two churches and at a service which has been arranged for an evening hour.

His schedule includes appearances Sunday at Oakland EUB Sunday School 9:30 a.m., and First Church of the Brethren Sunday School, 10:30 a.m., where he will speak. At Prospect Street Methodist Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m., he will show a moving picture film, "Talents," and make his presentation of the Protestant World.

Tuesday at 8:45 p.m., he will speak at Emanuel Lutheran Church, and Wednesday and Thursday 7:30, Calvary EUB and Wesley Methodist, respectively, for talk and film.

A joint meeting for the Green Camp Baptist and Methodist congregations has been arranged for Friday night at the latter church where the talk will be given and the film shown.

At First Presbyterian Church in Marion April 27, Dr. Montgomery will speak at Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. He will be heard at the worship service of First Evangelical and Reformed Church at 10. The schedule has been arranged by the Marion County Ministerial Association.

Presentation of a short history of The Protestant World enterprise will be supplemented at the week night meetings by the showing of the film which has a stewardship theme and is described as one of the most inspiring pictures in the field of religious productions. Official capacity of Dr. Montgomery is director of extension for the Protestant World, newspaper endeavor under the combined leadership of 58 denominations.

Mrs. Hoch's birthday anniversary was observed with a handkerchief shower. A miscellaneous shower to be held at the next meeting, April 23, for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lust was announced by Mrs. Frank Putnam, home economics committee chairman. She appointed Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dutt and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mochel to the refreshment committee.

Members of the Future Farmers of America chapter of Pleasant School will present a conservation program at the April 23 meeting. Dick McClaskey will be in charge.

Reports Ohio Needs 1,000 New Teachers

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio lost nearly 5,000 school teachers last year, but it managed to replace most of them.

Now it's facing a loss of some 1,100 more to the draft.

This teacher exit is the same old story that has haunted Ohio for years, the State Board of Education Director said Wednesday.

"The teaching profession isn't very stable in Ohio or any other state."

Dr Clyde M. Hissong said there is only one solution - sell more young people on teaching as a career.

Ohio is in better shape than most states, Dr. Hissong reported. It ranks fourth in the total number of teachers employed—48,052 for the past school year.

Marriage was the biggest factor reducing the teacher supply in Ohio last year. This accounted for 823 vacancies. Jobs in business or industry took 742 more, 413 decided to teach in other states; 420 retired, the armed forces claimed 253 and 89 died.

About 2,000 more left for miscellaneous reasons or gave no explanation.

By Douglas Tuomey

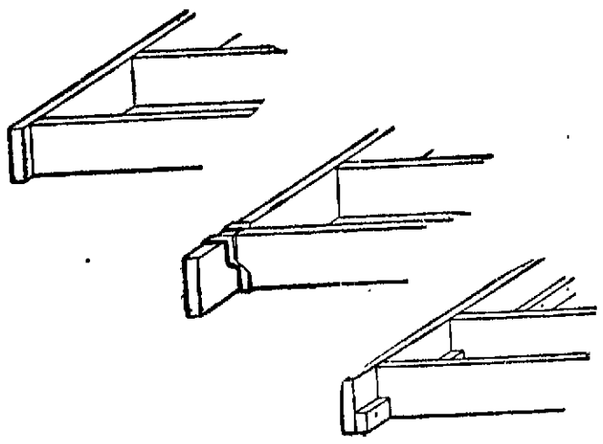
Solid Construction vs. Jerry Building

If you are interested in your own house or in building in general the accompanying sketches may be very interesting.

Very often in building a house, it is necessary to cut the floor or ceiling joists (beams) to make way for a stairway, attic opening or other item. When this is done the joists always end up against a header which runs at right angles to the joists as shown on all three sketches. The first sketch shows a typical bad and inadequate way of doing this job, as the ends of the joists are butted against the header and simply nailed through the header into the ends of the joists. In short, the only support the joists have is whatever strength there is in three or four heavy nails.

The second sketch shows one way of doing the job properly. By this method "bridle-irons" are used. They are made of heavy wrought iron flat strip, forged into a shape which permits them to clamp over the top of the header and form a nice stirrup or sling in which the end of the joist is cradled. Anyone with the slightest idea of solidity will appreciate that here is something worthwhile. Nails are also driven through the header into joist.

The third sketch shows another method of doing the job correctly and in a workmanlike manner. In this type of construction a strip of wood is nailed along the lower face of the header and securely nailed to it. The ends of the joists are notched or cut out as is technically known as a "ledger-strip" or sometimes a "ribbon." Obviously, when the ends of the joists are spiked through as well, you have a job with three or four times the strength and value of the first method illustrated.



This is but one of the hundreds of small details which generations of good American building have developed and made standard practice.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Leaky Cabin

Q. I have a leaky condition in a cabin. It is covered with large partially round slabs of wood and the bark is disintegrating and falling off in many places. Around the chimney in particular, the logs do not seem to meet the chimney and there seems to be nothing but building paper for quite a distance. Is there something an amateur could do to prevent rain from seeping in and soaking the insulating wallboard?

A. Fairly large spaces should be packed with oakum which is generally stocked by dealers in boat supplies and plumbers. The last three-eight's to one-half inch of depth should be filled with a caulking compound applied with a caulking gun. Small spaces can be filled with caulking compound only. I would advise that the bark be removed because it holds moisture and causes the wood to rot. It also is a nesting place for wood-boring insects.

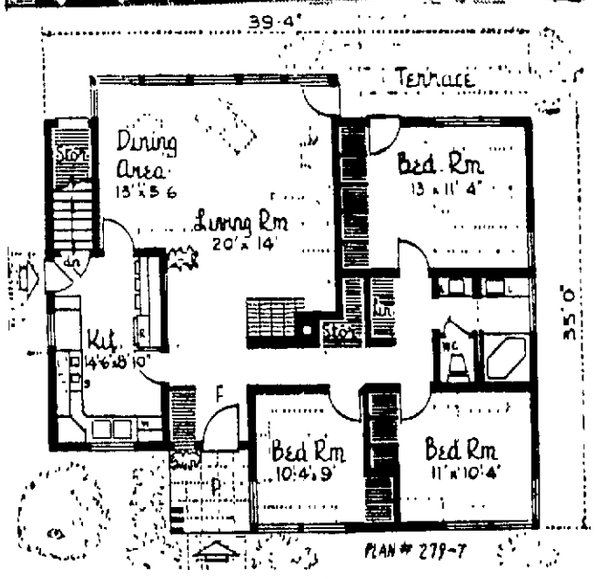
* * *

Rough-Surfaced Laundry Tubs

Q. Our stationary washtubs are 24 years old and the interior surfaces are quite rough. I would like to give them several coats of porcelain but am wondering if the surfaces shouldn't have a couple of coats of cement or something similar first.

A. Cement would not adhere to a surface saturated with soap and other cleaning powders. In fact, it will also be difficult to have paint adhere to this same surface. My recommendation is to smooth down the roughness by rubbing with a coarse abrasive stone. This should give you a smooth enough area to work in. If you wish to take a chance, you might coat the tubs with a rubber-base floor paint.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



LIVING ROOM AND DINING ROOM on the rear garden side of the house features this three-bedroom plan 279-T by Edward R. Tyler, 586 Mason Place, Uniondale, N.Y. The house covers 1,206 square feet and has a basement. A compartmented bathroom has two lavatories.

RED CROSS RADIO PROGRAM

Marshmallows, toasted over a campfire, started it but before it ended there was the grim tragedy of the near murder of a town. This is the story of carelessness and forest fire told in this week's "Errand of Mercy" play titled "Marshmallows and Murder" and starring Virginia Gregg. It will be heard at 10 p. m. Sunday over Station WMRN. The story tells of a forest fire that leaped rivers and highways at incredible speed and threatened destruction of a whole town before the wind changed and rain came to aid the weary fire fighter. It dramatizes the fight of neighbors, Forest Service Rangers and the American Red Cross to save the town.

Many poisonous snakes do not lay eggs but produce living young.

HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Mrs. Alice Grice of 187 Barnhart St. was hostess recently to Circle Three of the Forest Law Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Agnes Starner gave devotions, and Mrs. Walter Mitchell and Mrs. Homer Hale and daughter, Mrs. S. D. Harpenau gave the lesson study. The Presbyteria. Society held in Bellefontaine in March was discussed. Mrs. Ralph Clutter gave a reading. Guests were Mrs. [illegible] of the absence of Mrs. Jah Cook and Mrs. Mary Shu[illegible]

• You pay a share of this tremendous loss, if you fail to protect iron and steel surfaces from the metal-consuming "fire" of rust. Yet, rust CAN be stopped by sealing the surface so that no oxygen can reach and oxidize it. RUST-OLEUM combats rust as effectively as water quenches fire.

For less than 1-cent per square foot you can add years of life to metal roofs, gutters, smokestacks, fire escapes, railings and fences. RUST-OLEUM will positively stop and prevent rust on all types of metal surfaces.

Call for a descriptive circular that gives full information—no obligation, of course. Try RUST-OLEUM now!

EASY TO USE . . . LASTING PROTECTION

Apply by Brush, Dip or Spray!

- No expensive preparation is required. Simply wire brush surface to remove scale, paint blisters, dirt, etc.
- It is not necessary to remove every appearance of rust.
- RUST-OLEUM penetrates surface rust and incorporates it within the protective film—a water and air-proof rust-inhibiting coating that does not crack, blister or peel.
- Excellent coverage—less than 1-cent per square foot
- Available in a full selection of colors.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

(First of a series on Finished Basements)

ONE OF THE easiest ways to get more out of your home is to convert the basement into useful and livable space. This does not mean that you have to install a bar. There are lots of things you can do with that space. With building costs what they are today it's extravagant not to utilize all the house you've paid for.

Finishing a basement invariably adds much to the value of a house. It can add to your enjoyment of your home and housewives say it makes it easier to keep the whole house clean, providing play space and eliminating the cellar dust which is usually tracked all over the carpets.

If you have a basement and don't appreciate the value of it consider the number of small houses built in recent years without basements just to keep costs down. Basements are worth money. Yet the bulk of idle houses waste from about a third to a half of their space in cluttered and dingy cellars.

* * *

MODERN BUILDING material and methods have completely overcome conditions of dampness. Basement rooms now days can be made as cheerful, dry and healthful as any rooms. They can give youngsters a place to cut loose without wrecking the appearance of the living room. They can provide oldsters with generous hobby space, a place for a work bench, a desk, filing cabinets, sewing machine, movie projector and screen, all of the paraphernalia for normal living that gets crowded out of the dressed-up rooms.

The result is that many householders are finding that finishing a basement is one of the cheapest and most satisfying improvements. And spring, with its clean-up, paint-up, fix-up custom, is an ideal time to consider such a project. The basement is dry from winter's heating and the humidity of summer has not started to condense into moisture on the cool foundation walls. Past dampness problems can be prevented from recurring. So it's a good time to plan a better basement.

* * *

NO MAJOR RAID on the pocketbook is necessary. Merely a good cleaning and thorough painting of a basement can accomplish a lot. Doing it yourself will give you additional satisfaction. From that point on, you can gear the project to whatever your budget can stand, or whatever you can borrow from your bank on an improvement loan.

You can add a ceiling to hide the pipes and joists and add fire protection to your home. You can give the floor in colorful patterns of asphalt tile which is impervious to dampness and therefore rated as one of the best basement floor coverings. You can erect your own paneled partitions as elaborate as you prefer and install any equipment you can afford—but or no bar.

* * *

BRIGHT COLORS and freedom for home-made ideas have made many basements among the most cheerful parts of homes. Decorative schemes turn out to be as original and individual as any family is by nature. The range of possibilities is amazing when you review them.

For example a family may go in for boating. Its nautical bent is carried out in a light blue and white basement. A large map of the world may be mounted on one wall and given a coat of thin shellac for permanence. Ship models and a marine clock serve as bricabrac. Along side the stair balustrade white ropes are run vertically from floor to ceiling to give the impression of rigging. The floor is finished with blue and white tiles accented with stock insets of ships and stylized compass points. Deck chairs have pillows in the shape of life preservers.

* * *

ANOTHER FAMILY hunts. Walls are finished in wood panelling, lodge style. An open gun-rack is built—with a light chain locked through trigger guards to prevent reckless removal. Hunting trophies are displayed. The room provides a good place for the moose head exiled from the living room.

Or the ranch house craze is ridden underground. Walls are hung with Navajo rugs and decorated with steer horns and six-shooters. The Indian theme is carried out on the floor with Navajo rug patterns worked out in green, yellow and black tiles in a field of red.

The musical family builds a floor-to-ceiling record rack around a radio-phonograph. The floor is accented with musical note picture tiles and waxed for dancing.

* * *

THE MAIN THING to do is to prevent dampness and its consequences. This can be done with proper construction and adequate ventilation. Details in achieving this will be taken up in the next installment.

(Next Dampproofing a Basement for Use)

A SHUFFLEBOARD in a basement floor is one of many games patterned in asphalt tile. Hop-scotch courts with numbered squares and checkerboards for youngsters are among others.

Kefauver by Default

WITHIN the realm of speculation which is where everything about politics is found Estes Kefauver of Tennessee may win the Democratic presidential nomination by default

The two men in sight who could have beaten him to it have both withdrawn from the race There continues to be hopeful chirping about drafting Harry Truman or persuading Adlai Stevenson to change his mind but the die is cast

As matters stand the relatively young senator from Tennessee—Kefauver will be 49 next July 26—is riding straight to a presidential nomination He is encountering no opposition No one else in the party is in a position to challenge him In fact no one else in the party seems to want to be in position to challenge him The Democratic nomination is apparently going to be his for the taking

It is not too soon for Republicans to start wondering if the same circumstances which are giving Sen Kefauver the Democratic nomination by default will give the Republican party presidential victory by default They bit on that proposition in 1948 and were hooked

Four years ago it looked as if circumstances had given Thomas E Dewey a victory over Harry Truman by default He was given no more chance to win than Kefauver is being given if he gets the nomination in 1952

But like Kefauver in 1952, Harry Truman in 1948 believed that reports of his political death had been greatly exaggerated He refused to die merely in order to confirm what everybody was saying about him He just kept right on campaigning, and when the votes were counted he was very much alive

Think Straight, Legalists

THE steel seizure incident is headed for the courts It has all the earmarks of a constitutional question

The probable shape of the question is whether or not the federal government can set the terms of a business operation by executive edict A further question which also may arise is whether or not damages can be recovered from the government if the edict causes damages

The legalists had better think straight because there might come a day when government would use a bad precedent to seize a labor union and force its members to sustain financial damages Obviously, Congress never would authorize such a seizure just as Congress never would authorize wanton seizure of an industry

But if legal precedent for seizure by executive edict had been established Congress might be deprived of its jealously-guarded power to maintain itself as an integral part of the system of checks and balances whereby despotism is made impossible in the United States

Nothing could be more shortsighted than to concentrate on the immediate circumstances of the steel seizure at the risk of forgetting the danger of a precedent In its grasping for power, the federal government will not stop at the railroads the steel industry and whatever victim happens to be next in line

Q. E. D.

WHEN the presidential preliminaries began to get attention in the press and on the radio a few months ago there was a question about the potentialities of Harold E Stassen

Here was a man who had exerted strong influence over many younger Republicans and over many women in the Republican party Like Gen Eisenhower he had added to his laurels the presidency of a large eastern university How strong would he be in 1952

His intention to be strong as he could be never was in doubt Typical of his tactics was a speech last January urging the government to let up on corporation taxes so employees could share profits with their employers Mr Stassen was not missing any chances to work both sides of the street

So here it is getting along toward summer The presidential preliminaries are old stuff now In the New Jersey primary the Stassen vote was 36 per cent of the total He barely carried Minnesota where his was the only name on the ballot despite his explanation that he really is not running for himself any more but for Gen Eisenhower Elsewhere he has been out of sight in the running

There is no question now about the potentialities of Harold E Stassen The University of Pennsylvania will not have to look for a new president after all

The Fact Is—

IT IS easy to understand why facts should have become the most sought-after commodity in a nation of go-getters and realists

It is not so easy to understand why the pursuit of facts shows signs of running the United States up a blind alley

Every time there is a public controversy like the one now in progress in the steel industry, the public is bombarded with 'facts" There even are 'fact-finding' agencies set up Whereupon the "facts" that have been found are contradicted with other 'facts"

It would be simpler to call some of the facts' by their right name they are opinions As such they may be entitled to the utmost consideration but not as facts

Property Confiscation

By David Lawrence

Issue Likely To Upset Party Lines

WASHINGTON

AMERICAN BUSINESS and industry — small as well as large enterprises — are becoming aroused over the administration's decision to confiscate private property without process of law

Political and party lines are likely to be upset by the latest turn of events For the American people are going to be asked at the next election to decide between the confiscationists and the anti-confiscationists

The issue of confiscation has been the root of the New Deal as well as of Fair Deal policies for nearly 20 years but the late President Roosevelt never ventured as far as his successor, President Truman has today

Many people are asking how a man of Mr Truman's instinctive respect for private property ever allowed himself to be persuaded to adopt a policy of confiscation and to do so under the guise of a national emergency

The facts are that the President has been pushed into a corner by his radical advisers and has been persistently misled as to the legal phases of the steel dispute

• • •

THE QUESTION of confiscation has been in the background of administration policies here for many years A clique of radicals in and around the White House has steadily and consistently pressed for legislation that would take away by taxes from one group of citizens a larger and larger share of their earnings and disburse the same in huge grants of public money to other groups of citizens But the transfer of private property to employes of industrial companies in the form of wages to which those companies never agreed is the first outright example of confiscation in American history The government simply seizes the earnings of companies which have raised their money by borrowing the savings of American investors If the government hesitates the CIO Union threatens a strike

Any order from the President executed by the secretary of commerce to put into effect the wage increases recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board is an act of confiscation Such a step is immoral because the word of the President of the United States was given to both unions and employers that the 'recommendations' of the board were not to be considered binding on either party To make them binding by seizing the treasuries of the companies and taking their money and paying it out to employes is to break a solemn promise It signifies that the pledge of the government has been torn into scraps of paper With such an order, the whole stabilization machinery becomes a totalitarian process hardly unlike that prevailing under communism or fascism

• • •

WHAT IS MOST unfortunate is that the President had available another course of action outlined to him by Congress and never followed it Congress expected the President to exact a 'no strike' and 'no lockout' pledge from the unions and industry and since both sides were to lose their economic leverage controls could be imposed on wages and prices But there was no provision for seizure or for the squelching of collective bargaining In fact, the existing Defense Production Act under which the Wage Stabilization Board functions specifically says

When national policy shall be to place primary reliance upon the parties to any labor dispute to make every effort through negotiation and collective bargaining and the full use of mediation and conciliation facilities to effect a settlement in the national interest To this end the President is authorized (1) to initiate voluntary conferences between management labor and such persons as the President may designate to represent the government and the public and (2) subject to the provisions of section 708 to take such action as may be agreed upon in any such conference and appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title

The section 708' referred to specifically said that 'no action was to be taken inconsistent with' the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act and other applicable laws There are no laws authorizing seizure of property in industrial disputes Certainly the President was expected to call a labor - management conference such as was held during World War II when industry and labor union leaders agreed to a 'no strike" and 'no lockout" pledge and then agreed to submit disputes to the war labor board He never did

So the administration has not followed the guidance of Congress and has not obtained for the government and the national interest the benefit of a pledge that would ban strikes and lockouts

• • •

YET TODAY without even asking for such an agreement the administration has come to the conclusion that it will go to the extreme of confiscating the money of several American companies and hand it over to the unions

Government by confiscation makes a very concrete issue for the American people to ponder It would not be surprising if the Democratic nominee who fails to repudiate this brand of Trumanism is overwhelmingly defeated at the polls He will be if the people generally understand the lengths to which confiscation can go in disrupting the business of the nation and the savings of investors If the President has power to confiscate steel company earnings without law he can confiscate bank deposits cut the value of government bonds in half and destroy all confidence in the stability of the dollar

The Man in the White Suit

The Role of Lame Duck President

By George E. Sokolsky

THE AMERICAN Constitutional system of checks and balances will be strained for 10 months while we have a lame duck President This is not the first time this has happened Herbert Hoover faced all the difficulties that beset a lame duck President The Congress regarded him as a non-political personality whose importance diminished every day between election day and March 4, when the new President used to be inaugurated

It was because the interregnum between the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November and March 4 was too long that Congress changed the inauguration of the new President to Jan 20 It would be more efficient to make it even sooner after election day

In spite of the legal possibility of Mr Truman succeeding himself he announced on March 29 that he would not be a candidate That declaration reduced his stature as a political leader it did not, in any respect, lessen his authority as President

• • •

IT IS INTERESTING to speculate on the nature of restraints placed upon the President He could within Constitutional bounds, practically develop into a dictator The courts have difficulties in restraining him when he commits an unconstitutional act as he did in the matter of the steel industry on the fallacious theory of 'inherent powers"

Congress could pass a joint resolution of opposition to his conduct The President could without embarrassment ignore such a resolution Congress could pass an act defining the President's powers in a particular matter He could veto the act Congress might then pass it over his veto by a two-thirds vote of those present It would then be law but Congress has no mean to force the President to obey the law

Congress could impeach the President This is a complicated process, only tried once in our history as regards the President and not successfully Unless President Truman committed a great outrage, become physically or mentally incapacitated it is not likely that Congress would feel justified in resorting to so extreme a measure

• • •

ACTUALLY, Mr Truman's powers increased once he decided not to run for President since he need no longer worry about his popularity He can pursue courses that are extremely unpopular and the people would have to wait until Jan 20, 1953 before they could be rid of him He might on the other hand, use his remaining months in the White House to make himself a beloved person for instance, by instituting economies that would aid every taxpayer

The restraints upon the President are then first his conscience secondly, his regard for public opinion A President may respect the Constitution as a sacred document preserving its authority over his conduct another President, like Harry Truman may stretch the Constitution so thin that it loses its character

President Truman by-passed and even violated the Constitution when he made war in Korea without the consent of Congress It has been said that he consulted important leaders of both parties, the Constitution makes no provision for such consultation Specifically it says 'The Congress shall have power .. to declare war' To evade that provision the President called the Korean War a police action and set up the fiction that it was being conducted by the United Nations

• • •

THE PRESIDENT violated the Constitution when he seized the steel plants He got around that by the fiction of 'inherent powers" arising out of the Preamble to the Constitution The Tenth Amendment completely negatives the concept of 'inherent powers,' no matter how the Preamble is viewed

The Korean War stood and has already cost us more than 107,000 casualties, the steel seizure stands because the courts will not grant an injunction against the President

What would happen if the President between now and Jan 20 committed this country to decisions which increase our obligations, or as in the case of Korea, bring upon this nation greater dishonor? What can be done about it? Very little, apart from impeachment. He would be well within his rights unless he has made a treaty which would require Senatorial confirmation But Mr Truman may pursue the course followed at Yalta, where without treaties, the United States was for all practical purposes committed to permanent war

This is a serious problem for our country and needs careful study as we go along

And You Are My Friends

By TRUMAN TWILL

THE POSSIBILITY that television may cause a new technique of political campaigning to be developed is exciting Campaigners need a new technique

Their failure to find one surely must be the prime reason why so many voters are sluggish about going to the polls In a country where nearly everybody has strong opinions about public affairs the would-be handlers of the affairs are doing such a miserably poor job of campaigning that voter participation keeps sagging year by year

If television can put a burr under the voters' drooping tails, it will have justified itself as an agency of communication But it had better be hammered home from the beginning that television itself cannot do the job It can only help the people who may use television in connection with political campaigning

The principal effect of television thus is likely to be to cause the politicians and their friends to juice up their act—to quit dying on their feet in campaigns Since television puts them on view as well as on record the campaigners will see the importance of being at least as winsome and credible as Howdy-Doody They will have to make the game worth the candle Television is expensive

• • •

THEY WILL DO WELL to borrow from the technique of television shows that have won enthusiastic followers—quiz shows and panel shows They will need to stimulate their audiences, instead of putting them to sleep as has been their unfortunate fashion in the past

Realizing that the members of the audience are not the faithful who would vote for them anyway but also their severest critics, politicians will be under pressure to lay off platitudes and bromides

The really smart ones will go the whole way and seek occasions to lock horns with their opponents in direct-debate a bit of showmanship which made the Lincoln - Douglas debates before the Civil War a high point in history It takes courage to tangle in a debate, but it makes an impression if you win

Television will stiffen the penalty for windy bombast It will rule out head-patting of local dignitaries and those corny references, often in error, to local history A campaigner will have to be at least as broad in his approach to his fellow Americans as the audience he is addressing

No longer can he soap up farmers in Des Moines and run them down in Detroit And no longer can he run off his mouth to hear the sound of his own voice—not with television time running on at X hundred dollars a minute

• • •

MY FRIENDS—and you are my friends—I will have to make this brief . . "

It should work out for the best except for one thing Radio and going to bring about a sweeping improvement in campaigning, too But the decline of enthusiasm in politics occurred after radio became a factor in voting Perhaps it happened because it is true of so many politicians that to know them is to dislike them Maybe politicians were better off and voters were too when campaigning was a whistle-stop show with the damage limited to voters within the range of the candidates voices

Daily Bible Thought

Destiny passes by princes and sons of great families to exalt the humblest We bend every energy and use every self-denial to make life soft for our children, but destiny does not want soft men and women so we defeat ourselves and make our children putty in the hands of destiny He chose David also his servant and took him from the sheepfold'—Ps 78 70

A Timid Congress

By Raymond Moley

A GOOD MANY Republicans in Congress are saying among themselves but not, it should be noted on the floors of the respective houses that the steel industry got exactly what it deserved at the hands of the President They say that the industry, perhaps under the pressure of Big Steel, abdicated its independence long ago and made the present victory of the CIO inevitable Why, therefore, these congressmen say should anyone feel sorry for the steel industry?

The precise answer to this strange argument I shall offer later in this piece First let us view it in its relation to the generally irresolute and confused behavior of Congress since the steel seizure

With the exception of a very few senators like Bricker and Ferguson, who denounced the President's seizure of the steel properties and Humphrey and Morse, who opened the faucets of oratory to defend it, members of either House had little to say Senators of the President's own party, many of them excellent constitutional lawyers, sat silent Apparently they were sparing the leader of their party the sting of their condemnation

• • •

THERE HAS BEEN some talk of an 'investigation" of the seizure by a committee of Congress. That is utter nonsense or, what is more serious cowardice For there is nothing to investigate The President and his lawyers have offered no legal ground for the seizure but the vague 'inherent' power of the President and the

Our second plan is for an entirely new type general video entertainment, using a channel positively impeachable by

(a)—Comedians who have a specialty of female impersonations get laughs by the ancient routine of muffing cues and pretending it was accidental and go for guffaws by letting their trousers fall down

(b) Any ventriloquist not resourceful enough to use a dummy slightly different from all other dummies

(c)—Phony wrestlers

(d)—All puppets that are pretty close to plain steals from the better puppet programs

(e) Kate Smith singing 'Don't Bounce Me In" Everything else is okay, but this is going too far)

(f) Seltzer bottles

(g)—All panels in excess of ten in any one night

(h) Harry S Truman (Harry hasn't even tried to be effective by mike or video in seven years and on our channel he will have to have his speeches read by somebody with a little airwave technique)

(i)—Ballets in excess of one for every four programs

We also promise if we get our video license that throughout the coming political campaign the audience will get only one orator per evening and not more than five on any single Sunday afternoon

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

At Long Last

IT'S HIGH TIME. After three and a half years, agonies of indecision mountains of research and statistics, and rivers of technical testimony, the freeze has been lifted. In place of 108 TV stations, we are promised some 2,000. There'll be no place — from the Gulf to the Canadian border —where a man can hide from Milton Berle.

Nothing startling is going to happen in a hurry. The good VHF channels in fairly populous cities are worth millions and millions of dollars. Each one will be fought over a half a dozen claimants with a fury unmatched since the days of the gold rush. This will involve months and months of hearings for each valuable frequency and possibly a lot of litigation after the FCC makes up its mind. Then of course, the stations will have to be built — and materials are pretty scarce.

* * *

BUT AT LEAST the beginning has been made, opening vistas of communications which are stimulating and, in a lot of respects, alarming. Two-thousand TV stations? There probably never will be that many but there will be an awful lot of them. There will probably be four networks each capable of getting a picture into your parlor—no matter where that parlor is. What on earth are they going to put in your parlor, though?

Television — it's getting to be quite an old adage—is already pricing itself out of the market. And the present market consists at best of 63 cities. Even a 63 city network is very, very unusual, the big shows hitting only 40 or so cities. But, casting our eyes into the distant future, suppose an advertiser is offered a 150 or 200 city network. With the present cost of shows skyrocketing into the $50,000 class, who can afford the increased station charges — no matter how many viewers he acquires? There is a point beyond which the advertiser can't spend because he hasn't got that kind of money.

Also in place of the present dominant duopoly (NBC and CBS), he'll have four networks and a flock of independents trying to get into his wallet all at once. One research man estimated that 2,000 television stations would take ten billion advertising dollars a year to operate profitably. That's far more money than is spent in all forms of advertising. If the advertiser can't profitably support all these stations, who will? Well, the woods are full of people who still think pay-as-you-go television is the answer to high grade TV entertainment. The exhaustion of the advertisers' dollar may be the one economic factor that will force subscription television out of the laboratory and into operation.

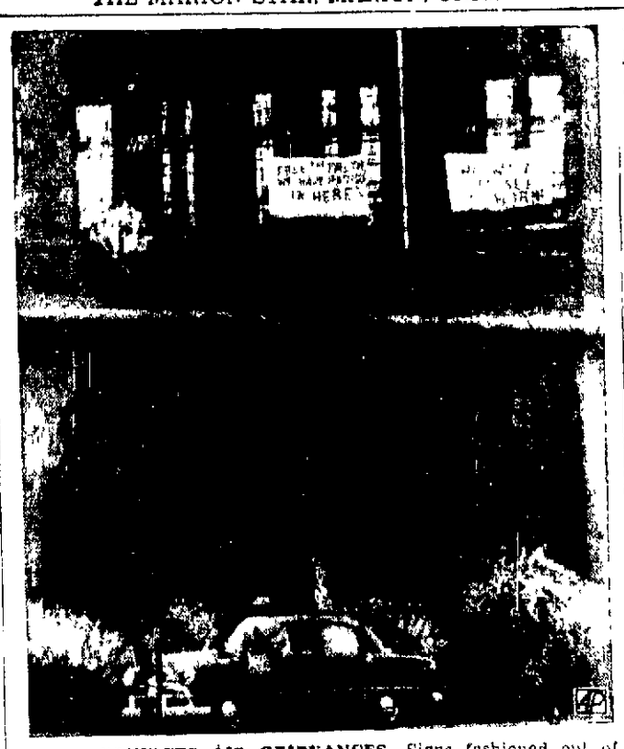
* * *

THE HAPPIEST result of the freeze is to restore some measure of competition to an industry which was rapidly losing any semblance of it. For three and a half years now, a great city like St. Louis has had but one station (KSD-TV) which has been passionately wooed by all the networks at all the salable hours of the day. The result was a cut-throat competition that was pretty hard on the rest of us. Robert Montgomery's theater on NBC was sent against CBS's "Studio One," though both are the sort of shows that attract the same type of listener.

This kind of in-fighting was all over the dial—Colgate Comedy Hour against Ed Sullivan, Frank Sinatra against Milton Berle and so on—all in a violent struggle to win possession of KSD and the other lone stations throughout the country. The programs that win out possess a monstrous competitive advantage. If a program or an entertainer has been in a city a certain length of time he has a sort of vested interest there and it's pretty hard to unseat him.

* * *

That's why the prolonged freeze has been so damaging to the growth of intelligent programming. Many promising shows—or at least promising ideas — had to be cancelled because they couldn't get into enough cities to justify their cost—leading to the suspicion they weren't very good ideas. Consequently it'll be difficult to get them going again.



REBEL CONVICTS AIR GRIEVANCES—Signs fashioned out of bedsheets hang below the shattered windows of a Rahway, N. J., state prison farm dormitory after 232 unruly convicts took over the building in a night of rioting. The Osborne referred to in one sign is the name of an association interested in prison welfare. State troopers man the parapet.

Kenton Council To Oppose Gas Rate Increase

Special To The Star

KENTON - Preliminary plans are being laid by Kenton City Council to oppose the rate increase being sought by the West Ohio Gas Co.

A committee appointed by council President William Resch, will assist City Solicitor Alfred F. Brindley, is preparing material to oppose the increase. The committee includes councilmen Harry L. Kaylor, Frank A. Berlien and Roy Spencer.

Mr. Brindley told council of having represented the city at a hearing last March 24 on an interim increase sought by the gas company before the State Public Utilities Commission. The commission granted the interim increase.

The solicitor also told council of moves being made in Lima and other cities in the district served by the West Ohio Gas Company, to resist the proposed increases.

Harpster Church To Mark College Day

In line with a denominational program, the Harpster Methodist Church will observe College Day Sunday with a speaker from Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware. Dr. Howard N. Maxwell, a professor of physics at the school, will be heard at the morning worship hour. He is one of the more than 500 speakers giving their time to present the cause of the four Methodist colleges in Ohio throughout the state this month in a plan designed to secure increased support of these schools by the church members. In his talk he will pay tribute to the work being done in classes of Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio Northern University at Ada, Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea and Mt. Union College at Alliance.

Easter Program Given At Meeting of Grange

Guests and members presented an Easter program at a meeting of United Grange, Tuesday night at the Claridon School. A covered dish dinner preceded the meeting. Paul Augenstein presided for business. Joe E. Lyon from Mt. Olive Grange gave a report on the state convention.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Calvin Baldinger who gave an opening Eastern poem. The Rev. A. E. Clark, pastor of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, played a saxophone solo accompanied by Mrs. Emerson Haley. A musical reading with tableaus was presented by Mrs. Mae Smith, Mrs. James Fields and Mrs. Lyla Messenger, and Mrs. Harold Smith, soloist.

A Marion pastor, the Rev. William Reeves of Wesley Methodist Church, presented the Easter message in papercraft, and Miss Caroline Foos sang. The benediction was spoken by the Salem pastor.

Patrol Lists Two Accidents

State Highway Patrolmen from the Marion station today reported two minor traffic accidents.

Cars driven by John R. Fink, 51, of Findlay and Dale R. Neil, 24, of 432 Park Blvd. collided on U. S. Route 30-S immediately west of the Marion city limits. Following investigation of the accident, Neil was given a citation for failing to give a hand signal when turning left. He is to appear in Marion Municipal Court on April 26.

Minor damage was reported when cars driven by Norman S. Webb 49, of Richwood and Wesley Cockenaugh, 19, of 507 Silver St. collided on State Route 95 south of Mt. Gilead at 8 p.m. Friday.

Cockenaugh was arrested by patrolmen and charged with reckless operation of his auto. He was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Justice Ray Bennington in Mt. Gilead.

Women Enter Hardin Co. Defense Corps

Special to The Star

KENTON—First women to become members of the Ohio Defense Corps in the 24-County Fourth Regiment, were added to the Headquarters Detachment here this week, according to Col. Cecil J. Davis, regimental commander.

The first two women who will be members of a 16-woman group in the Headquarters Detachment, both with the rank of master sergeant (E-7), are Donna K. Cooper and Marie Spencer. The women's contingent as authorized includes one warrent officer and 15 enlisted women of various ranks. They all are clerk-typists.

Recruiting of the remainder of the group will be extended over the 24 counties of the area, Mayor William E. Drews, administrative assistant to Col. Davis said. Headquarters is at the armory in Kenton.

Easter Egg Hunt Set in Mt. Gilead

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—The annual Mt. Gilead Lions Club Easter Egg Hunt will be held at 2:30 p.m. April 12, according to Sid Tennant, president. The hunt will start from the Junior Fair building on the Morrow County fairgrounds this year because of the new construction at the school grounds.

Two groups of children will hunt for 40 dozen colored eggs. The first group will be for children up to three years of age and the second will be for children four to and including seven years of age. Warren McClelland is chairman of the annual hunt. He will be assisted by Dale Mosher, Bob Haas, Vincent Rhodebeck, Herb Billing, Kenneth Rexford, John Orwick and John Holden. Finders of the prize winning eggs will receive 48 live chickens and 10 white rabbits.

Police Report One Accident

City police reported only one traffic accident and one arrest today.

Cars driven by Mrs. Helen S. Broadwell, 40, of Grosse Ile, Mich., and George Lusk, 20, of Grove, O., collided at 12:26 a.m. today in front of 717 Delaware Ave. The left front door of the Broadwell car was damaged and the right front of the Lusk car.

Richard Thomas Ratcliff, 32, of Ashland, Ky., was arrested at 9:46 p.m. Friday on N. Main St. on a charge of panhandling and intoxication. He was fined $10 and costs in Municipal Court today but the fine was suspended on condition he leave Marion.

Vows Exchanged By Miss Case And Sgt. Robert Rinnert

THE altar of the Emanuel Lutheran Church was banked with Easter lilies and palms for the Easter Sunday wedding of Miss Marilyn Joy Case and Sgt. Robert E Rinnert.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton G. Case of 675 King Ave. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rinnert of 306 Summit St.

The Rev. M. E. Hollensen read the double ring ceremony at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. William Ackerman, organist, and Mrs. Allen Dreyer, vocalist, furnished nuptial music. Family pews were marked with satin bows and huckleberry foliage

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over satin with a nylon tulle yoke accented with seed pearls. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion caught to a Juliet cap of chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her jewelry was pearl earrings, gift of the bridegroom The bridal bouquet was a crescent of white hyacinths centered with a purple-throated orchid.

Sister Is Maid of Honor

Miss Sharon Lee Case, attired in a gown of yellow nylon net over taffeta, attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Rinnert, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Roberta Heminger, cousin of the bride. They wore gowns of mint green nylon net over taffeta. All attendants carried crescents of yellow and white daisies and wore head bands of daisies. Miss Emily Rinnert, sister of the bridegroom, served as candlelighter. She wore a carnation pink gown of nylon net over taffeta and a wrist corsage of daisies. She carried a taper decorated with daisies.

Dean Drake served as best man. Ushering the guests were Paul Rinnert, brother of the bridegroom, and James Lytle Jr.

A reception for about 150 guests was held in the church parlors. A three-tiered wedding cake surrounded with white stock blossoms and huckleberry foliage centered the table.

The bride was attired in a navy blue suit with navy and white accessories and her bridal orchid when the couple left for a short wedding trip through northern Ohio.

Both Harding Graduates

Both the bride and bridegroom are 1950 graduates of Harding High School. The new Mrs. Rinnert attended Capital University, where she was a member of Kappa Sigma Theta social sorority. She was recently employed in the payroll department of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. Her husband is serving with the Air Force at Fairfax Field, Kansas City, Kans., where the couple will make their home.

The bride's gifts to attendants were two-strand pearl necklaces. The bridegroom gave the best man and ushers cuff links and tie bars.

Out-of-town guests were Mr and Mrs. Harold Ling of Columbus Mr and Mrs. Samuel Harke of Toledo, Mr and Mrs. Oliver Curtman of Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E Ault of Norwalk, Mr and Mrs William Taylor of Delaware, Mrs David Bartlebaugh and Nelson Getz of Springfield and Miss Elsie Ackerman of Mansfield.

Marion Garden Center Notes

BEGONIAS

Tuberous - rooted begonias bloom 60 to 90 days after planting and continue to bloom until frost. They grow low to medium height. In the tree-shaded garden, there is n brighter spot of color than a bed of tuberous begonias. Their gorgeous blooms often measure five inches across and their clear beautiful colors make them our most showy shade-loving flowers. In addition to their long period of bloom, they have decorative foliage Thrive best f planted under tall trees where they get only about two hours of morning sun May also be used in window boxes or on pots indoors. All bulbs should be started indoors. After ground s warm, transplant 18 inches apa t in shade or part shade in soil with leaf mold or peat moss, and give plenty of moisture. Plants should also have good drainage. Bulbs must be lifted and stored indoors for winter.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

OUT OF A QUIET CHAT between Wendell Willkie and Franklin Roosevelt some years back springs the most pressing reason why the nation's labor leaders won't see the man they want most after Harry Truman and Adlai Stevenson nominated for the presidency. Their next-in-line candidate is Averell Harriman, whose name popped into the Willkie-Roosevelt talk one afternoon when Wendell dropped in on FDR to say goodby just before the "one-world" trip.

Roosevelt said, "See Harriman, he's a friend of mine; he'll help, and incidentally, he contributed to the Democratic presidential campaign." Willkie roared in that characteristic way of his and laughingly replied that Harriman was his friend, too, having contributed to the Republican party as well.

To the men who man the Democrats' political machine, Mr. Harriman has been too friendly to important Republicans to be seriously considered a presidential possibility — regardless of his strong labor support and personal contacts which have come out of recent conferences with labor people on international affairs.

This would leave Sen. Kefauver as the next politico palatable to the labor leaders—and he will confer privately with some of their policy-makers in a little while. But Kefauver has about as much chance for united labor support as a mink ranch on Capitol Hill. It must be remembered that in hundreds of cities—in 860 to be exact—the AFL has central trades councils and most of them are linked to the local Democratic machine.

* * *

THE MACHINE Democrats, some of them disturbed by the Senator's crime probe, have little use for Estes. And they're not impressed by his showing in the primaries. They resent his "iceberg campaign," as they call it, in which he leaves them strictly alone when he arrives in any city.

They would take him, in a last desperate moment, with about the spontaneous warmth of a corridor greeting between Senators Benton and McCarthy.

This is not to insinuate the old-line AFL councils which work with the Democrats are connected with any crime syndicates which have reacted into a hundred city administrations and some of the most important Federal District courthouses. This merely reports the facts of life. Rudy Halley, for example, the man whose energy made the great Kefauver TV crime hearings, is preparing to charge that crime in an eastern sector of this country is controlled by five men, only one of whom is generally known to the public, Frankie Costello.

* * *

THIS WILL HIT HARD at the Democratic machines here. Since these machines have been in power for years, it is inevitable that some labor leaders were drawn into political coalitions without knowing of the back door criminal ties of the politicos, some of whom are internationally famous. Some of the notoriety might come off on labor leaders who were doing what comes naturally in big towns where unions need municipal support for a thousand daily activities.

Now, if Kefauver is nominated, it is expected he'll turn on the machines he now abhors and ignores. There'll be a great muckraking campaign and fever. The machine leaders, whose power is being overshadowed by the colorful primary campaigns, just don't want to see this happen and certainly will go to their labor friends for an anti - Kefauver coalition.

In many areas they won't succeed. Certainly the most powerful of all unions, the Teamsters' Brotherhood, is backing Sen. Kefauver. So will David Dubinsky's Ladies Garment Workers Union if he's nominated. But the Senator is a long way from the top of the ticket regardless of the great primary showings.

* * *

WHO DOES THIS LEAVE? Alben Barkley has strong labor friends. Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn is popular in the old New Deal circles and has a perfect labor record.

Don't overlook these candidates; they are on labor's favorable list. So is Paul Douglas. But Mr. Truman dislikes him intensely. And the labor leaders still are tied to the White House. Furthermore, there's been a behind-the-scenes feud between the labor supporters of Stevenson and Douglas.

What political influence the labor leaders have with their followers will be determined on Wednesday, April 23, when the votes cast in Pittsburgh (Allegheny County primary) are counted. This is the first time since the 1950 Ohio Senator race that Sen. Taft is actually jousting directly with the union leaders for labor votes in their home bailiwick. The unions will try to rally their people against the eight men running on Taft's behalf.

If, in a CIO front, they can't beat Taft, it may wind up that who the labor people want nominated will be purely academic.

SWITCHES HIS SUPPORT TO KEFAUVER— Senator Paul Douglas, (D), Illinois, (right) makes public a telegram he sent to Senator Estes Kefauver, advising the Tennessee presidential candidate that he will support him. With the withdrawal of Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Douglas said Kefauver is "by all odds the best available candidate of our party." Senator Kefauver (left) kneels to give his autograph to newsboy Jimmy O'Reilly, who was the first to greet him when he arrived in Boston for a brief visit.

Phone Officials Plan To Attend State Convention

Several officials of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. will attend the 57th annual convention of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association in Columbus April 21 through 23.

Among those from Marion who will attend are C. E. Williams, president; R. H. Henderson, general Telephone Co.; R. M. Wopat, vice presiden; R. H. Henderson, general auditor, H. J. Vrooman, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Phyllis Ziegler, chief operator, and Mrs Hazel Augenstein, chief assigner.

Williams is immediate past president of the Association and is now serving as a director.

Ohio's nearly 200 independent telephone companies will be represented at the convention, to be held in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel. Luke Hill of Tarboro, N. C., president of the United States Independent Telephone Association, will be featured speaker at the opening session Monday afternoon.

Women attending the convention will be honored at a breakfast and fashion show Wednesday morning at 9:30 in the dining room of Lazarus Department Store.

SLAVE BRICKS STILL GOOD

LEG OF LAMB DOES IT

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (UP) — Four bandits feared Edgar E Johnson's barking dog would attract attention during a $12,000 jewel robbery in Johnson's home show room. One of the gunmen threw the dog a leg of lamb snatched from the kitchen refrigerator and all was quiet.

School Charters To Be Discussed For Morrow Co.

MT. GILEAD—Decision on the renewal of charters of the Marengo and Sparta school will be made April 21, according to County Supt. of Schools T. A Gantz.

The State high school board of the Ohio State Department of Education had been scheduled to meet then to consider the renewal of the temporary charter but the meeting had to be postponed Gantz said.

Both the Marengo and Sparta schools are now operating on temporary charters and it is expected that the temporary charters will be renewed for a period of a year at the meeting.

Sparta school officials asked for renewal of their charter while a survey is made of school organization in southeastern Morrow County.

GREATER LOVE HATH—

WALLA WALLA, Wash (UP) Sheriff J. R. Cummins had to turn down a three-man delegation that offered to serve a day apiece so that their jailed companion's sentence would be finished.

Up to the 1952 elections, the Democrats and Republicans have been opposed in 24 U.S. general elections of which the Democrats won 10 and the Republicans 14.

State Education Dept. Says It Can't Force Consolidation

COLUMBUS (AP)—The State Department of Education said Friday it has no authority or desire to force consolidation of local school districts.

Consolidation is, by Ohio law, left to the people of the local districts, the department added in a policy statement.

The state education director, Dr Clyde M. Hissong, outlined the policy as a result of scattered criticism that the department is trying to force districts to consolidate in some areas.

The department was accused of this in Hocking County and was named a party to a suit brought against the county board of education. A group of county residents sued the board over consolidation of several districts into one.

Dr. Hissong said he sent two representatives to Hocking County at the request of county residents to explain the procedure of consolidation.

Ohio law provides the Department of Education can decide consolidation only if a county board of education rejects consolidation petitions of 75 per cent of the voters of the area concerned. Then the department must conduct a public hearing in the county. The department's authority on consolidation stops there, Dr. Hissong said.

In its policy statement, the department endorses recommendations of the Southeastern Ohio Superintendents' Association on principles to be followed in consolidating school districts.

The Association said the normal social and shopping center of the area should be considered and that the districts make sure they will get an equitable share of state tax revenues.

Dr. Hissong said many local school districts have been combined in the past year and plans for more are being considered.

Boards usually consolidate districts to get better school buildings, teachers and programs. They figure one large school can do these things better than several scattered small schools. Counties furnish school districts money on the basis of student enrollment.

Box Supper Held By Progressive Grange

A box supper, with L. M Wickersham presiding as auctioneer, preceded the meeting when Progressive Grange met Tuesday night in the Grange hall. Supper was served to the Juveniles by Mrs. Jack Danner, matron, and Mrs. Francis Gruber, assistant matron.

In the business session an appeal for aid was read and answered and one application for membership was read and approved.

Mrs. Lowell Mack was in charge of the entertainment which included games and contests. Named to serve on the program committee for the next meeting, April 29, were Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Gruber and Mr and Mrs. Earl Thomas.

Set Johnsville School End of Year Exercises

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD — Dusty Miller, Wilmington editor and publisher and humorist, will be the speaker for the commencement exercises at Johnsville High School May 24. Thirty seniors will graduate according to Supt. Paul Furniss.

Baccalaureate services will be held May 18, with Rev. John Osborn of Johnsville delivering the sermon. Twenty-eight members of the Senior Class returned from their annual trip Monday which included Washington and New York. Mr and Mrs Tyrol Noble accompanied the group on the train trip.

The one-act play cast will compete in the state finals at Columbus Friday. Blue Ribbon Arithmetic tests were given Wednesday and the annual eighth grade tests will be given Friday. A minstrel will be presented April 25, in the school auditorium by the music department and the FFA. Walter Nall is music director and Paul Gipp FFA instructor. The minstrel had been originally scheduled for April 18.

WCTU Plans Member Drive

A drive for 10,000 new WCTU members in Ohio was announced at a meeting of Frances Willard Union held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Cyders, 633 Adams St. The drive is in memory of the late Dr. Ella Boole, World WCTU president.

Prayers were given by Mrs. Leonard Brady, Mrs. Robert Koch and Mrs. Cyders. Devotions were conducted by Mrs Perry Strine, Mrs. Albert Bechtle, Mrs. Hazel Baird and Mrs Koch gave readings. Mrs Strine sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Donaugh.

Reports were given from the national and the state WCTU magazines. Guests were Mrs. James Mathers and Mrs. Helen Mounts. Mrs. Anna Peterman assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

THEY WANT TRACTORS

BURLINGON, Vt. (UP) —The once familiar cry of "get a horse" has been replaced by "get a tractor" in Vermont. Census figures showed that Vermont farmers own 23,724 horses, only one-fourth as many as were owned in 1918. The number of tractors has jumped 70 per cent during the past five years.

Musical Notes

by Gene Shellhorn

Rhythm is the spice of music. It can bring life to the simplest scale or melody. But you'd be surprised how many amateur musicians overlook its importance and consequently miss a lot of fun in group playing. For instance, Albert Einstein is an amateur violinist. He was once playing a Mozart sonata with the late Arthur Schnable at the piano. The great Schnable became annoyed at Einstein's sense of rhythm and snapped "For heaven's sake . . . can't you count?" It's easy . . . one, two, three, four."

Well, sometimes we're all inclined to overlook the simple things. It certainly doesn't take a mathematical genius to develop a good sense of timing and rhythm. It behooves us all . . . especially if we want to perform with a group . . . to practice and develop rhythm as we progress in our studies. There's more to music than notes played in succession. And rhythm is an important part. So . . . don't be like Einstein. Count and it'll add up to more musical pleasure for you.

You and your youngsters will get more pleasure in playing a fine WURLITZER piano. Yes . . . the fine tone and performance . . . the exquisite styling . . . makes it the best known name in pianos. Drop in and try it for yourself. We'll be glad to arrange convenient term payments at SHELLHORN'S MUSIC STORE, 184 S Main St. Phone 2-2713.

Truce Talks Resume On POW Issue

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Truce negotiations today began another attempt to work out a formula for exchanging prisoners of war captured in Korea.

U.N. Command spokesmen refused to say whether staff officers made progress during their first meeting with the Reds after a two-week recess in the off-the-record talks.

"We are still in executive session," was the only comment from Col. George Hickman, top U.N. staff officer.

In an adjoining tent, subcommittees of top level negotiators abandoned attempts to break the double-barrelled truce supervision deadlock.

U.S. Jets Down 7 MIGs, Damage 5

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets shot down seven Communist MIG--15s, probably destroyed another and damaged five in the week ended Friday, U. S. Fifth Air Force reported today.

Only one Sabre was lost in air combat. One Allied warplane was lost to Red groundfire and three failed to return for unknown causes.

Snow, rain and fog settled over the Korean front Saturday, grounding Allied fliers and turning the frontlines into a morass of mud.

U. S. Eighth Army announced its troops inflicted 2,348 casualties on the Reds between April 8-11. The Army said 834 were killed, 1,375 wounded and 39 taken prisoner.

Eighth Army reported only light ground action Friday.

Birthday Promise Is Remembered By Queen Elizabeth

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—Elizabeth II celebrates her first birthday as Queen Monday and will keep a 10-year-old promise most folks thought she's forgotten.

This birthday—Elizabeth's 26th will be private and quiet like those of her beloved father, King George VI. But its high point will be something papa would have liked—keeping her promise to inspect the Grenadier Guards.

Long before death struck the quick blow that swept Elizabeth to the throne she once confided: "If ever I am queen the Grenadiers will be the first of my soldiers I shall inspect."

She was just 16.

The battle-tough officers smiled deferentially at the somewhat weedy little miss, then forgot about it.

But Elizabeth didn't forget.

She'll hold her first troop inspection as sovereign at Windsor Monday. And it will be the Grenadiers, as promised.

that more than 100,000 other phone workers honored picket lines.

The phone company managed to maintain near-normal service as picketing was not general but on a "hit-and-run" basis. The firm also used supervisory personnel where necessary. Manual and long distance service was affected chiefly.

Yankee Music Degrading Chinese Reds Decide

HONG KONG (UP)—Entertainers and musicians in Shanghai's cafes and cabarets have decided they won't sing western popular songs any more.

The songs of the capitalist nations are "degrading," they say.

At a rally of musicians and entertainers in Shanghai, it was resolved to "strive for study and reform," and cast out the influence of western, and especially American, music.

Four To Attend Health Meeting

Four Marion representatives will attend the spring meeting of the northwest district of the Ohio Public Health association at the Findlay YMCA April 24.

Attending from here will be Miss Esther Mautz, county nurse; Mrs. Catherine Kelly, county nurse; R. B. Southard, county sanitarian; and Miss Jeanne Underwood, secretary in the county board of health offices.

The main address will be delivered by Bob Reider, owner-publisher of The Ottawa County News.

Congress Aroused

Raising cries of "dictator" and claiming strong Democratic support, the GOP group, led by Sens Knowland (R-Calif) and Ferguson (R-Mich), moved for a showdown Senate vote Monday on two proposals, both aimed at spiking the operation of the seizure order.

Sen. Hoey (D-NC) challenged Sawyer's authority to impose a wage hike, telling the Senate:

"I didn't think the government has the power to take money belonging to the stockholders of any corporation and order it disbursed to the workers without consent of the authorized officers of the corporation."

Sen. McFarland of Arizona, Senate Democratic leader, declined to comment on the prospects of the Republican move or to talk about Sawyer's plans.

Cancer Clinic

County which is not available in many American communities.

The Marion Cancer Clinic puts its emphasis on detection, and not on treatment, and does not undertake to prescribe or give treatment of any kind. But the detection services provided are as good as those provided in any cancer clinic in the state. There is no limit to the expenditure to which the clinic will go if there is any doubt regarding the presence of cancer in any person being examined. Many persons are getting free an examination which would cost them a couple months' rent if it were done in some other large city in an ordinary clinic.

Five Marion physicians appointed by the Marion County Academy of Medicine take turns at conducting the clinic, donating their services to the cause of cancer detection. It takes about one and one-half hours for a person to go through the clinic, on the average. But for many residents of this area, that hour and a half has been an important one—for by discovering they had cancer in time, they were able to do something about it, and lived.

All anyone needs do to obtain the free services of the cancer clinic is to make application for an examination, in either of two ways. Each Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m., a Cancer Information Center is set up in the lobby of the YMCA, under the direction of Mrs. William Haley. She will make the appointment, and give any information on cancer anyone may desire. The other way is to call Mrs. John Gillis, nurse in charge of the clinic, at her home, phone 2-9010. At the present time, appointments are being made for late May.

After a person has made an appointment for the examination, he is given instructions regarding preparation for the clinic, and told to appear at the clinic rooms in the basement of the hospital on the proper day. At the clinic, Mrs. Gillis takes the person's case history for the doctor's information and an attendant proceeds to take his blood pressure, blood count and urinalysis. Then the doctor takes over, and gives a thorough examination in search of signs of cancer.

Use X-Ray, Microscope

If there are any skin lesions which might be possible signs of cancer, the doctor will remove a specimen for microscopic examination. If examination indicates internal swelling or thickness of glands and organs, X-rays are ordered. Every woman who is examined is given the Papanicalaou Test for internal cancer, and the results are determined personally by a cancer expert at Cornell University. This test alone costs $7.50 per person, all of which is paid by the clinic.

Physicians who make the examinations will not make any incisions to determine if there is internal cancer present, but will take X-rays and give other tests. If there is the slightest possibility cancer is present, the person being examined is immediately referred to his or her family doctor.

Naturally, the records of the Cancer Clinic contain much personal medical information about the persons who have been examined. This information is kept strictly confidential, and is not given out to anyone except the person's physcian and to the person examined. In the case of a minor, of course, the information is given to the parents. Every person who goes through the clinic receives written notice from the clinic which states either that no signs of cancer were found, or that there is some doubt and further investigation is warranted. In no case is the person examined "kept in the dark" about his condition.

The Cancer Clinic makes it possible for any person who would like to know positively if he has cancer to get a costly examination free. The service is made possible by the contributions of the people of Marion County to the fund campaign of the American Cancer Society which is being conducted this month in the county.

Employment Drop Continues

110 Dropped From Marion Area Payrolls

Employment in the Marion area last month continued the slow decline begun last November, Fred B. Scherff, manager of the Marion office of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, reported today.

Between February and mid-March about 110 persons were dropped from payrolls of Marion area firms, reducing the number at work to 12,185 on March 15 Scherff said.

Thirty - eight manufacturing concerns surveyed lost some 125 employes during the thirty-day period. Producers of rubber products, nonelectrical machinery, and primary metals were primarily responsible for the change although most other manufacturing groups contributed to the decline. Nonmanufacturing employment rose negligibly (up 15) as quarrying and construction activities picked up seasonally.

Plan To Hire More

When surveyed last month, major Marion -area manufacturers planned to hire about 240 workers (in addition to replacements) by mid-May. The major part of this need is expected to be for persons with experience in machine-shop trades and clerical occupations. Producers of nonelectrical machinery expect to absorb 200 workers during the period. Minor increases were anticipated in rubber products, primary metals, stone-clay-glass, and wood preserving. A sizeable employment drop was forecast in toy manufacturing, as operations discontinue in one plant in Kenton. The workers released by this company should be easily absorbed by other industries in the area, however. Nonmanufacturers foresaw a need for about 110 more employes. Most of the hiring was anticipated in transportation, utility, and construction firms.

At the beginning of April, about 970 persons were looking for work through the Employment Services offices in the Marion area. The majority of the 480 men job hunters are already employed but are applying for work at higher skill levels or greater rates of pay. Many of the job seekers are from Kentucky, West Virginia, and southern Ohio; they have had experience mostly as farm hands and truckmen. The majority of the 490 women hunting work are interested in factory employment or sales positions.

Many Opportunities

During March, there were many employment opportunities for men qualified as machine-shop tradesmen, mechanical engineers, sheet-metal workers, machine-shop inspectors, electricians, stationary firemen, and unskilled factory workers. Jobs were available for women as secretaries, typists, waitresses, and domestic workers.

Last month an average of 500 persons were claiming unemployment benefits weekly—a drop of 40 under the February figure. Even though total employment declined in the surveyed industries, released workers are quickly obtaining jobs on construction projects, farms, and as railroad trackmen. One year ago, an average of about 350 workers were applying for benefits weekly.

'Turnip Day' session of Congress" every day up to New Years, if necessary, until restoration of whatever eventual cut is decided upon.

The reference was to a surprise special session he called July 26, 1948, a date known in his home state of Missouri as "Turnip Day."

The President, describing the threat of Russian Communism, displayed his clenched fist and told his audience: "There is only one real language they understand, and that is this."

Many members of Congress reacted swiftly to his threat of special sessions. They said it was "unnecessary" and "an affront" to their patriotism.

Flood

hundreds of workers into the fight. They toiled through the night to seal off the sewer line at its mouth. They lowered steel I-beams and sheet steel into the river at the mouth of the sewer. Barges dumped rocks and sandbags in an effort to seal off the sewer and halt the spurting water.

The great danger was that the rising water behind the dike would weaken the earthen barrier—or that the river would blow out the sewer line entirely and undermine the water-logged dike.

Sweating, muddy workers labored mightily to check the menace—just as thousands of other workers downstream were fighting against the Big Muddy in its rampage.

Queen Sends Message

The flood sufferers had the sympathy of the nation—and also the sympathy of a royal couple from a country which knows well what it means when dikes break.

Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands messaged Iowa's Gov. William S. Beardsley from San Francisco; "We in The Nethterlands know all too well by experience how grievous the suffering of the victims can be."

And the suffering, discomfort, and disorganization of normal living were grievous in this rich valley.

At Hamburg, Ia., half the town's 2,086 residents were evacuating their homes after the Missouri chewed through the Plum Creek levees about 15 miles northward and topped a secondary levee at Hamburg. Parts of the town were under water and 500 Army troops gave up the fight to build the protective dike.

"They lost the battle," Mayor Louis Jensen said.

At St. Joseph, Mo.—the state's third largest city—the river was five miles wide. Workers fought to save outlying parts of the town. Stockyard workers took the last cattle from the yards in the south part of the city. The water was still rising.

At Craig, Kans., women and children were moved from the town. The menfolk, aided by National Guardsmen, stayed to build a temporary levee around the town of 800.

At Leavenworth, Kans., water crept up on the Sherman Air Force Base on three sides. About 700 acres of the state prison farm were flooded when a levee was topped—but dikes held the water back from another 1300 acres.

No Lives Lost

But in all this tremendous struggle, there was no loss of life reported.

While the Missouri raged, the Mississippi River poured an all-time high crest down the upper valley below St. Paul. Flood preparations were underway in river lowland areas of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois.

The Mississippi approached a five-feet-above-flood-stage at Winona, Minn., where high water threatened dikes protecting one-third of the city of 25,000.

The river at LaCrosse, Wis., was the highest since 1880 and the crest still was to come. Extensive damage was prevented by strengthened dikes.

Water rose above the flood stage in the Davenport-Rock Island-Moline-East Moline area. The crest is expected April 26. Flood preparations were underway at Dubuque. Water was seeping into basements in lowland business and residential areas of Clinton, Ia.

U. S. Army Engineers in Kansas City estimated the Missouri will roll up a $13,500,000 damage toll in the area from Rulo, Neb., to the mouth of the river at St. Louis. Upstream from Rulo, there of the damagvnie-$Oni has been no reliable estimate made of the damage although it is known to run into many millions.

Ground Airline After 29 Die In Plane Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — North Continental Airways, operating unscheduled transcontinental flights, was grounded today by government order after a crash of one of its transports near here had taken 29 lives.

The plane, a C-46 two-engine airliner enroute from New York to Los Angeles crashed in the Puente Hills, 25 miles from its destination, early yesterday morning in a heavy fog. Seven hours later a rancher, checking on his cattle, came upon the wreckage. A few passengers had been hurled from the plane, but most died strapped in their seats.

The plane apparently exploded as it hit the side of the 100-foot hill. Short, glistening rivulets where aluminum had melted, testified to the heat of the fire that consumed everything except the smashed tail section and one wheel.

At 3:33 a.m. Friday Los Angeles International Airport cleared pilot Lewis R. Powell for a "straight in" instrument landing through a dense early-morning fog. The radio conversation was interrupted by the ground-controlled approach operator, who monitored but did not direct the landing. He told Powell that his plane did not appear on the radar screen.

The plane apparently had crashed at that instant. Attempts to contact the plane failed. A search was instituted but the wreckage was not located until after 10 a.m.

Mrs. Juan Etchebarren, living near the crash scene, said she heard a noise before daylight that sounded like a bomb.

Capt. Sewell Giggers of the Los Angeles sheriff's aero squadron pointed to a furrow ripped across the crest of a hill and said: "Evidently the pilot started his letdown too soon. A wingtip, probably the right one, scraped the top here, throwing the plane off balance."

Civil Aeronautics Administrator Charles F. Horne suspended the airline for 30 days. He had filed a complaint with the CAA March 21, asking for revocation of the company's certificate. He said the emergency suspension is "predicated upon an operating history involving violations of civil air regulations and the Civil Aeronautics Act, and by the accidents to aircraft operated by the company."

Getaway Car Used In Lima Holdup Found

LIMA, O. (AP) — Police today believed they have found the getaway car of three men who held up a downtown Lima grill and escaped with more than $10,000.

Officers said clothing found in a auto abandonee behind a Lima church matched descriptions of that worn by the masked and armed holdup men.

One of the bandits was waiting in the grill's back office for manager Alan Framer and Sam Sperro as they returned from a bank with money to cash payroll checks. The other two forced about 20 patrons into a washroom. They rifled four cash registers on the way.

The patrons peeked through a window and saw the trio escape in a car.

Officers set up road blocks in surrounding counties without success. They said the car found behind the church was stolen April 14 in Bowling Green. Besides the clothing officers found a single $1 bill in it.

350 to 400 bales an hour HOUR after HOUR!

Farmers favorite for 31 hour work for the great '77' baler any hour! Up to 7 bales a minute . . up to 10 tons an hour . . . is just a one man job with this great New Holland machine If you have the hay, the '77' has the capacity!

When it comes to top capacity performance sustained performance there's no baler to match New Holland's '77' With it you can pick up compress tie and twine up to 7 bales a minute up to 10 tons an hour with just one man on the job

And you get this kind of performance day after day from can see to can't see For the great '77' is as rugged as it is fast just as you'd expect from the leader in grassland farming machinery New Holland the country's pioneer and largest maker of automatic pick up balers

When you think of balers remember New Holland makes the highest capacity baler on the market This is why farmers Faced with high production costs and hard to get help are buying more New Holland '77's than any other make of baler

LOOK AT THESE OUTSTANDING NEW HOLLAND FEATURES!

Besides its amazing capacity, the New Holland '77' gives you the following farm engineered features at no extra cost!

1 Fast Action Up to 7 bales a minute Bale beat the cut

2 Bales Tied Under Compression this means more firmly tied Fraying prevented

3 Inverted Anti-Clog Knotters for fewer missed bales Jamming eliminated because chaff falls free of gears

4 Safe, 'Freeway' Needles mounted on side instead of underneath giving greater ground clearance preventing interference by obstructions

5 Wadboard-Type Hay Packer forms bales evenly saving protein filled leaves

6 Roll-Away Bale Chute allowing closer windrowing

Trouble-free baling with the only Certified Twine

The United States Testing Company has awarded its Seal of Approval to New Holland Twine—the twine that meets its rigid standards of uniformity, quality and strength Farmers everywhere all agree there's no better twine at any price

OPPORTUNITY

Would you like the opportunity to move to a smaller town where living costs are lower and have a permanent job selling new and used Studebaker automobiles?

This is a fine opportunity for a traveling salesman that is tired of traveling and wants to be home with his family and permanently located. This is also a good position for an insurance salesman that knows how to prospect and sell. There is no excess to pay here and a better future.

The man that qualifies for this position must be aggressive, steady, sober, willing to work hard and with the desire to make big money. Others need not apply. This is a salary plus commission basis. References for the past 5 years must be furnished.

New Ohio Features Jane Froman Story

With A Song In My Heart, technicolor musical production based on the career of songstress Jane Froman currently is playing through Monday at the New Ohio Theatre. Susan Hayward is starred in the role of Jane Froman, and heading the cast with her are David Wayne, Rory Calhoun and Thelma Ritter.

The film is the dramatic and tuneful story of songstress Jane Froman, her rise to stardom, her tragic airplane crash and her courageous return to show business. It was at the height of her fame when she answered the USO's call for talent to entertain troops overseas during World War II that the plane she was in crashed in Lisbon harbor almost ending her death and leaving her with crippling injuries and little hope of ever walking again.

Also it is the story of the two men in Jane Froman's life, two

SUSAN HAYWARD shown above as she fondles in affectionate pose is the star of the romantic epic David and Bathsheba which will be shown Tuesday through Thursday at the New Ohio Theater. Gregory Peck co-starred in the film.

Roy Scarbrough who recovered Jane after she fell in love with her from the start, will be the airline pilot who saved her life in Lisbon.

Playing a return engagement Tuesday through Thursday will be the romantic epic David and Bathsheba co-starring Susan Hayward and Gregory Peck.

Thursday night on the stage of the theater the Battle of our weekly local radio talent quest station WLW's coast to coast Star Search will be held. Legion of Honor wishing to participate may obtain registration blanks at the theater.

Show is Friday through Saturday will be a Double feature "Okinawa" starring Larry Parks and "Sound Off" with Mickey Rooney.

Betty Grable Featured In State Theater Film

Meet Me After the Show starring Betty Grable and Rory Calhoun and 'The Stagecoach Kid' with Tim Holt, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are 'All About Eve' and 'Pride of Maryland.' The former stars Bette Davis and George Sanders, and heading the cast in the latter are Stanley Clements and Peggy Stewart.

Paulette Goddard and Gilbert Roland are the stars of the film 'The Torch' which will be the main attraction of a double feature playing Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be 'Three Guys Named Mike' starring Van Johnson and Howard Keel.

Saturday only the attractions will be 'Night Riders of Montana' starring Allan 'Rocky' Lane and Claudia Barrett, and a technicolor film 'American Guerrilla in the Philippines' starring Tyrone Power and Micheline Prelle.

South Drive-In Bills "Cave of Outlaws"

'Cave of Outlaws' technicolor western film starring MacDonald Carey and Alexis Smith with Edgar Buchanan and Victor Jory will be shown Sunday and Monday at the South Drive-In Theater.

The film tells the exciting story of a search for hidden gold in a mammouth network of caves in the late 1800's. Carey is seen as Fete Calver, ex-convict who returns to his home town to seek the gold which he had helped to hide ten years before. Alexis Smith portrays the town newspapers editor whose husband had mysteriously disappeared while searching for the hidden gold. The film reaches a climax when Carey is trailed to the famous caverns by leader of an outlaw gang who is determined to force the former convict to lead him to the gold.

Showing Tuesday and Wednesday will be 'The Raging Tide' starring Shelley Winters, Richard Conte, Stephen McNally, Charles Bickford and Alex Nicol. It is the story of a hunted waterfront murderer.

Rod Cameron, Adrian Booth, Forrest Tucker and Chill Wills are the stars of the picture 'Oh Susanna' which will be the attraction Thursday through Saturday.

Abbott and Costello Star in Marion Films

Two Abbott and Costello comedy attractions, Hit The Ice and Ride Em Cowboy, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

NO I do not mean that you should marry Ronald without the knowledge—or the presence— of your mother and your stepfather I told Marion quickly But I added with emphasis if you do not wish your marriage to become an impossibility you must keep your mother in ignorance of your plans until the very day of your marriage Also—I will help you in this— she must not see Ronald alone until after you are safely married to him

The look of horror in her eyes had vanished with my first assurance But I saw it coming back into her eyes at the stressing of my subsequent caution

'You cannot mean,' she said in such low broken accents that I scarcely could hear her, 'that Mummy would talk to Ronald against our marriage If she did that if he thought she disapproved he would be adamant against it I couldn't hope to move him Oh Auntie Madge! You can't mean that'

But I do mean just that" I said stubbornly for I knew that I must convince her of the hazards she faced before she should see her mother again Do you think' I flung at her for the lines of her face were settling into hostile ostinacy albeit tinged with torturing uncertainty 'that I enjoy saying these things to you or that I would mention them if your life happiness did not depend on your knowing them'

I did not wait for her answer, but rushed on with passionate emphasis

'My father Uncle Dicky and I all have seen her obsession and done everything we could to bring her back to sanity, but to no avail My father just finished talking to her, and she was so utterly crushed that I had to give her a sedative, and put her to bed She told me that though my father and Dicky and I had discovered how 'vile' her plan was —that was the very word she used—and although she realized it herself yet she could not give it up, for your future happiness was at stake and would be destroyed if your marriage to Ronald were permitted to take place'

Marion's eyes had lost their hostility now, and held the tortured beginning of belief I could not look at them and for several seconds there was no sound in the room Then Marion spoke huskily

'Please forgive me Auntie Madge I see it all now and I believe you It's just as if Mummy were sick isn't it?'

Her tone was so desolate that I felt physically ill I can imagine nothing more awful than the shattering of faith in a parent in the mind of a child I tried to find adequate words but feared that I was failing miserably

'Her mind is sick, Marion" I said with assurance 'But only on that one point She has a blind spot When you are safely married I am sure that everything will be cleared up and she will be her old self again But until then I must have you promise that you will tell your mother only such of your plans as you already have gone over with me

'Yes, I'll promise that,' she said gravely

'Then, I must tell you something else I wish you to do' I said I have told Collotti Carroll that when she is ready for us to come up she is to telephone you here over the unlisted telephone Then you will telephone me, using the same phone here and our unlisted one downstairs I will give the information to your mother Will you do that?'

Commander-in-Chief There is nothing that they would have to offer And the answer to the Presidents claim of inherent power is already easily at hand No investigation is necessary

It is giving Congress too much credit to assign all its reaction to restraint For restraint is supposed to be a calculated matter generally a choice of the better course No this is not restraint It is a reflection of irresolution confusion, and political expediency

One can conceive of a Congress in which a William E Borah might rise and propose a positive declaration of policy on this matter—a declaration that no President would be likely to ignore in the future

• • •

THE COMPLAINT of some Republicans that 'the steel industry deserves this punishment' is shocking blindness to the real issue The alleged guilt of the steel industry in the past is not relevant Nor is it pertinent to the issue to suggest that the President is 'punishing' the steel industry

The issue is the 'punishment' that the President has given in this instance to the constitutional system under which we all must find safety and liberty This is not a conflict between the President and the steel industry It is a conflict between law and arbitrary power No President since Lincoln in the first three months of the Civil War has arrogated such power to himself And Lincoln faced a vastly more serious emergency

Republicans should not shirk their obligation to stand up for the constitutional rights of Americans To do so is to surrender their last best hope of returning to office This ought to be their golden opportunity

Browns Keep Rolling, Whip Chisox for Fourth Straight

St. Louis Entry Still In Tie For League Lead

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The giddy St. Louis Browns are beginning to remind folks of the 1944 team that set a new league record by winning its first nine games. In case it slips your memory, that wartime collection won the only American League pennant in Brownie hisptory.

Nobody was surprised by the way Brooklyn and Cleveland broke out of the gate. After all, they were the picks to meet in the World Series. But four straight by the Browns—that's different.

Who thought the first four Brown starting pitchers would go the route? Ned Garver, yes. But Bob Cain, Tommy Byrne and Duane Pillette? Never.

Pillette became the fourth starter to go all the way Friday when the retread Browns played before the home folks for the first time. The former Yankee, whose father was a big league pitcher years ago, stuffed a five-hitter down the throats of the Chicago White Sox to win, 7-1.

Last year the White Sox were running wild, startling the dignified league with their daring running. Now they're left at the post, beaten four in a row.

Five in Eight

Five in the eighth nailed down the St. Louis decision with Catcher Clint Courtney's bases-loaded triple doing the most damage. Less Moss hit Chuck Stobbs for a homer in the fifth to tie the score and Dick Kryhoski doubled home a run in the sixth for a 2-1 edge. Then came the eighth-inning assault on Luis Aloma and Bill Kennedy, an ex-Brownie.

Bob Feller, the last of Cleveland's "big four" to start, thrilled a home crowd of 56,068 by winning the Tribe's fourth straight, 5-0, over Detroit. Feller, now 31, lost his control with one out in the ninth when he walked Cliff Mapes, Matt Batts and Johnny Lipon. Bob Lemon came in to make Pinchhitter Steve Souchock ground into a game-ending double play.

Chunky Connie Marrero made the World Champion New York Yankees pop his slow stuff into the air to spoil the Yankee Stadium opener with a 3-1 Washington victory. The little man from Cuba had some sensational support from Second Baseman Cass Michaels to beat Allie Reynolds.

A flareup between Phil Rizzuto and Catcher Mickey Grasso of Washington added a little fire to the game, played before 45,340. Next time up Rizzuto ducked away from a fast ball. Grasso also hit the deck the next time he faced Reynolds.

Reynolds gave up the winning runs in the fourth when he hit Eddie Yost with the bases full to force in one run and then walked Gil Coan on four pitches.

Vollmer Clouts

Clyde Vollmer got into the game as a pinch hitter to deliver two key hits in Boston's 5-4 win over the Philadelphia A's in 10 innings. Vollmer's pinch single followed by Jim Piersall's double off Rookie Tex Hoyle touched off a three-run spurt that tied the score in the ninth. Vollmer's second hit in the 10th scored Faye Throneberry with the winning run.

Brooklyn rolled to its fourth straight on Andy Pafko's second home run of the day to nip the New York Giants, 7-6, in 12 innings. An Ebbets Field crowd of 31,022 saw the defending champion Giants land on Clem Labine in a five-run first inning. The Dodgers finally tied the score at 6-6 on Jackie Robin's homer in the eighth and gave Bonus Kid Billy Loes his first big league victory on Pafko's smash.

Sid Gordon and Willard Marshall smashed successive homers in the ninth after Russ Meyer pitched two-hit shutout ball for 8⅓ innings to give Boston a 3-2 edge over the Phillies. The Chicago Cubs climbed into second place by chasing their old nemesis, Harry Brecheen, to score four in the ninth and shade the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. Bill Serena, batting for winner Bob Schultz, drove home the tying and winning runs with a double.

Pittsburgh's kids continued to steal their stuff, blanking Cincinnati, 3-0, on the five-hit pitching of 21-year-old Bob Friend. Home Town boy Bobby Del Greco, making his debut before 29,874 Pirate fans, scored a smash hit with a triple and two singles.

Golfers Open Next Saturday

Marion golfers will open the season next Saturday at the Marion Country Club, Jack Stoddard, country club pro, announced today. Men will swing into action on that date with the women set to follow on Thursday, May 1.

Stoddard, who returned to Marion only this week, said the fairways and greens at the club were in good shape and are rapidly rounding into condition for play. Warm, sunny weather is expected to dry out any remaining wet spots.

Stoddard will be directing the golf activities at the club alone this summer. His brother, Ray, who formerly assisted him has accepted a post as pro at a Fort Worth, Texas, course.

Reds Blanked By Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH—Bobby Friend, 21-year-old sophomore hurler for the Pittsburgh Pirates handcuffed the Cincinnati Reds, 3-0, here Friday before an opening day crowd of 29,874.

Ewell "The Whip" Blackwell, started for the Reds but was removed for a pinchhitter in the seventh inning after giving up all three runs and five hits, four of them for extra bases.

Bobby Del Greco, Pirate rookie, making his major league debut before the home-town crowd, and his mother, banged out three hits, including a booming triple which drove in two runs. He also collected two singles.

New Bloomington Loses Debut, 2-1

New Bloomington's high school baseball tune lost its opener to visiting Sycamore Friday, 2-1. It was a pitchers' duel with each hurler giving up only four hits. Sycamore's Shell struck out 18 and New Bloomington's Persinger fanned 12. Monday New Bloomington plays host to Mt. Zion.

Pilots Make Room For Newcomers

Yankee Trend Started Last Season Catches On In Major Camps

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no doubt in our mind that the phenomenal success of the Yankees last season in jumping a group of juveniles from the far outposts right to the parent club without the customary "seasoning" in the high minors already has had a profound effect on a lot of other owners and managers.

It was something new at spring camp a year ago in Phoenix to find that the most talked about players on the Yank squad, Mickey Mantle and Pitcher Tom Morgan, were not even on the Bombers' roster. It was even more surprising when they wound up the campaign as regulars, and when Gil McDougald hopped straight from the Texas League to lead the world champions at bat.

This seemed more or less revolutionary at the time, and it is possible that old Casey was just plain lucky. Maybe it couldn't happen again, but it plainly set some other smart baseball men to thinking. The evidence is in nearly every big league box score. We doubt there ever before were as many totally unfamiliar names

* * *

THERE WAS A TIME when a reporter in the spring could sit down with a manager and a club roster and within 10 minutes have all the information he needed to wise up his readers in the frozen north. It was pretty much cut and dried. What rookies there were either showed by their records in the fast minors that they were ready or that they needed, as the manager would say, "another year or two out." A reporter seldom missed a golf date.

It wasn't that way this spring. You first discussed briefly with the manager the athletes who actually were on his official club roster. You learned there were two, possibly three rookies on the list who had excellent chances of starting the season as regulars. Then you asked "all right, now, what have you got?"

"The kid playing center field, the one who just hit that triple," the pilot would respond. "He isn't on the roster. He's only 19 and he played in Class-D last year, but he's showed me so much I'm going to keep him.

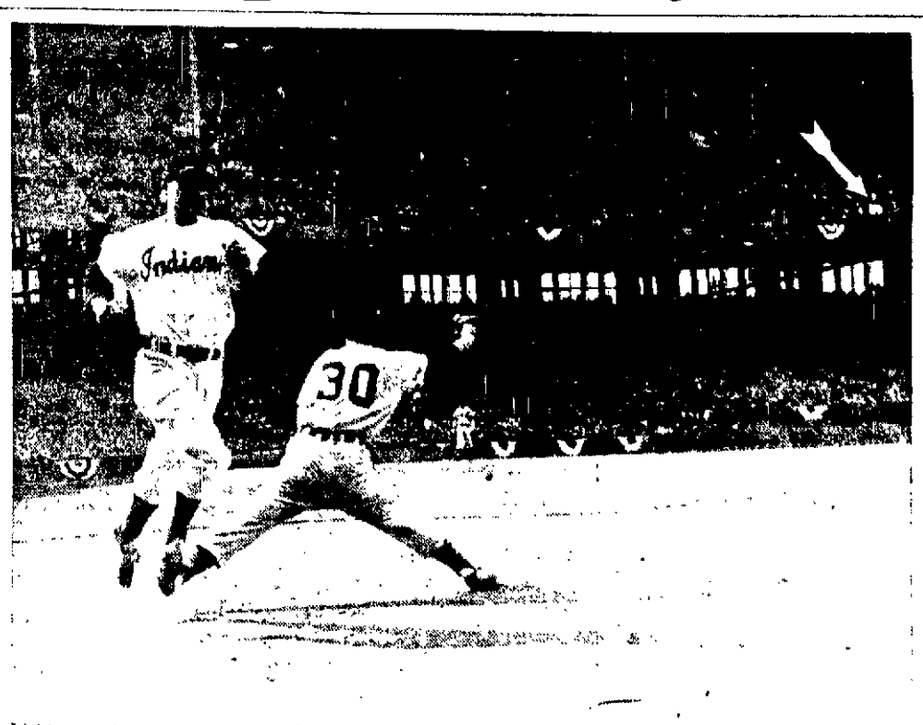
* * *

WE MIGHT AS WELL find out right now if he can make it. Same with those kids at short and second. They're right out of college and haven't played any pro ball, but both of 'em can run like deer and they have good throwing arms. There's three or four young pitchers, too. They're listed with our farm teams but I'm going to give them a real chance."

This was a fairly typical conversation. It necessitated copying down an extended list of names and attendant data. Then, after the story had been typed, it meant keeping a careful check for days and weeks to see whether the manager really was serious about carrying the young marvels.

It turned out that in a surprising percentage of cases he was. If Stengel could do it, so could he. Second division clubs, in particular are giving youth a fling as they never did before. Even with a score card you will be wondering where they sprang from.

You might keep an eye on Bobby Del Greco, a squat youngster who played with Hutchinson, Kas., last year. He hit three for four in his debut with Pittsburgh.



THIS TIGER DOESN'T HAVE IT IN THE STRETCH: Leaping through the air, Cleveland shortstop Ray Boone beats out a grounder while Detroit Tiger First Baseman Ben Taylor spreadeagles to reach the ball (arrow) in the second inning of the Indians' home opener. A crowd of 56,068 fans saw the Indians, behind Bob Feller, take their fourth straight victory, 5-0.

Feller Needs Help In Ninth

Indians Blank Detroit 5-0, To Take Opener at Home

CLEVELAND—The Cleveland Indians won their fourth straight game of the young season here Friday in their home opener. Bob Feller, dean of the Cleveland mound staff, shut out the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, though he needed help from Bob Lemon after two were in the ninth frame.

Feller allowed only six hits and struck out the same number before weakening twice here in the ninth. Lemon was waved in by Manager Al Lopez and put an end to the Tiger uprising by forcing pinchhitter Steve Souchock to ground into a game ending double play.

Tribe batters collected seven hits from the offerings of four Detroit hurlers. Ted Gray started the game but was hilted for Dick Littlefield in the fifth. Fred Hutchinson came on in the seventh but failed to last out the inning. He was relieved by Billy Hoeft who blanked the Indians the rest of the way.

Harry Simpson led the Cleveland attack with two hits in two times at bat. He has hit safely in all four games. Friday he took part in every rally. In the first inning, he opened with a walk and later scored on a single to right by Bob Avila. In the second inning, Simpson scored Ray Boone from second with his first hit, a clean single to center. He drove in Boone and Hegan in the seventh inning against Hutchinson.

Two runs in Feller completed the first team of Cleveland's Big four pitching staff. All four, Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Feller have posted wins in their first two starts.

It was the fourth straight defeat for Detroit.

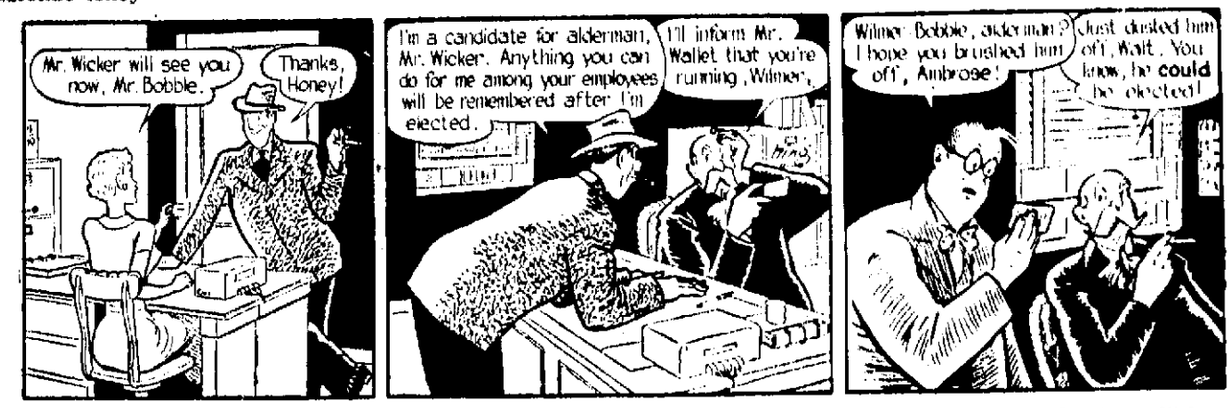
MY POOR DARLING!
I'LL GET SOME MORE ICE FOR YOUR POOR HEAD...
THERE GOES THE DOORBELL... PLEASE ANSWER IT HONEY... AND NO MATTER WHO IT IS, I'M NOT AT HOME!
I'M SORRY GENTLEMEN BUT MR. KIRBY ISN'T...
DON'T GIVE US THAT, 6 STEP THE BLEW A MAID OF OUR DOUGH AND WE WANNA SEE HIM!
WE WANNA SEE HIM!

Superman By Wayne Boring

I-I CAN'T SEEM TO BUDGE THIS CREATURE!
THAT'S NOT SURPRISING, SUPERMAN. THE XOMITE'S ATOMS ARE SO DENSELY CONCENTRATED AND SO STRONGLY ATTRACTED TO SRIG'S GRAVITY THAT IT CAN'T EVEN LIFT ITS OWN WEIGHT TO WALK!
IT MOVES AROUND IN A SLIDING MOTION, AND HAS NEVER BEEN KNOWN TO HAVE ITS FEET OFF THE GROUND!
HMM... THAT MEANS IF I USE EVERY OUNCE OF MY STRENGTH, I'M LIABLE TO TEAR IT APART!
BUT THAT DOESN'T MEAN I CAN'T LIFT IT UP-AND SINCE THAT IS WHAT YOU REQUESTED, ZARK, I MUST TRY TO DO IT!

Gasoline Alley By Frank King



Mr. Wicker will see you now, Mr. Bobble.
Thanks, Honey!
I'm a candidate for alderman, Mr. Wicker. Anything you can do for me among your employees will be remembered after I'm elected.
I'll inform Mr. Wallet that you're running, Wilmer.
Wilmer Bobble, alderman? I hope you brushed him off, Ambrose!
Just dusted him off, Walt. You know, he could be elected!

Joe Palooka By Ham Fisher

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT WILLIE LOX, THE PRELIM BOY, WHO FIGHTS OINEY AT THE ST. NICK'S ARENA.
I FEEL LIKE A MURDERER... SENDIN' YA IN WIT' THIS KILLER, WILLIE.
AW, 'AT'S AWRIGHT, BAGLE.
YA NEVER HAVE WIN A FIGHT... NOT EVEN FINISHED... AN' THEY SAY HE'S GOT A HAYMAKER WORST THAN PALOOKA'S.
AW, 'AT'S AWRIGHT, BAGLE.
ANYHOW... THIS TIME YA'LL GO DOWN T'DEEFEET IN GLORY BECUZ THEY SAY THIS OINEY IS TH' NEX' CHAMPEEN... YA KIN BACK OUT, KID... MEBBE YA OUGHTA...
NAW, 'AT'S AWRIGHT, BAGLE.

Terry and the Pirates By George Wunder

AS VICTORIA TEMPEST'S CONFESSION UNFOLDS THE DETAILS OF THE BLACK MARKET ORGANIZATION, MESSAGE CENTERS HUM WITH ACTIVITY AND ORDERS GO OUT TO WIDELY SCATTERED POINTS.

TO A CITY NEAR THE AIR BASE...
TO THE DECK OF A 'NEUTRAL' SHIP IN A JAPANESE HARBOR...
VAT IS CHARGE AGAINST DIS CREWMENS, YAH?
IMPERSONATING AMERICAN SOLDIERS, PLUS STEALING OF AMERICAN PROPERTY
AND TO AN AIRPORT A THOUSAND MILES AWAY...
WHAT IS THE MEANING OF THIS STUPIDITY?
AT REQUEST OF AMERICAN AUTHORITIES YOU ARE UNDER ARREST

The Gumps By Gus Edson

WELL, MR. GAY NINETIES, WOULD YOU PREFER A SURREY WITH A FRINGE ON TOP TO THAT CUTE BUGGY?
OOF! THAT WAS CLOSE!
NOWADAYS, THERE ARE JUST TWO KINDS OF PEDESTRIANS... THE QUICK AND THE DEAD.
AND WHEN I THINK OF THOSE BIG DRAFTY OLD BARNS THEY USED TO CALL HOMES... COMPARE THEM TO OUR MODERN COMPACT APARTMENTS...
COMPACT IS RIGHT. IF THEY GET ANY SMALLER, A MAN WILL HAVE TO MARRY A WIFETTE TO LIVE IN 'EM... BIM, THE TIME HAS COME FOR YOU TO SHARE MY BIG SECRET!
